Carnegie's First $400
A $500,000,000 Baby
Peace, and There Is None
Says Dr. S. to Gov. Smith

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

"ANDREW CARNEGIE made his first $400 without spending a cent. That's how big fortunes often start.

Carnegie bought $400 of insurance stock, gave his note in payment, paid for the stock with its dividends, owned it for nothing.

JOSEPH P. DAY, learned land scientist, says the three greatest letters in the alphabet are "O. P. M." meaning "other people's money."

A QUICKER way to make money without capital is to have a good idea and push it. A way to plate metallic surfaces with aluminum, something hitherto found impossible, is discovered and involves actually billions of dollars to be saved.

The invention will be applied to endless uses, from kitchenware to locomotives, and is expected to give automobiles a finish defying time and weather.

There are as good ideas in the human brain as ever came out of it. Try to find one.

SEARS-ROEBUCK stockholders yesterday voted to increase capital stock by $00,000 shares. At market prices that company is worth more than $200,000,000. Julius Rosenwald hardly expected that when he took hold of the company a few years ago.

Compared with other companies, General Motors, Standard Oil, U. S. Steel, etc., Sears-Roebuck is only a baby. We have the four billion dollar stock company. When will the 100 billion company arrive?

SOON our able secretary of state, Mr. Kellogg, will be in Paris discussing the pact to prevent war.

In the meanwhile Japan notifies China that she will have war in a hurry if she doesn't stop her nonsense about repudiating treaties. When you read "direct action is hinted," you are reading a plain threat of war.

PEACE pacts, certainly, while they don't interfere with some big power's war plan. Britain and the United States at least are perfectly sweet in their desire to avoid war.

They have got all they want, all they can take care of and their desire is to be let alone.

GOVERNOR SMITH sensibly insists that he be allowed to answer the reverend Baptist preacher, Dr. Straton, from the Baptist pulpit, where the clergyman attacked him.

The Rev. Dr. Straton wanted to hire Madison Square Garden for a big crowd. Governor Smith said: "No, I will reply to you where you attacked me."

NOW Dr. Straton, conquering his aversion to publicity, says he will let Governor Smith answer from Dr. Straton's Baptist pulpit provided Dr. Straton can repeat the debate in St. Patrick's Catholic Cathedral on Fifth av.

THAT seems out of line—first, because Governor Smith has nothing to do with the management of St. Patrick's Cathedral, and, second, because nobody was attacked in St. Patrick's Cathedral. It will be an interesting debate.

BUT Will Rogers says, "In the old days Governor Smith would have kidded that off with one wisecrack."

That might be the wise thing for Governor Smith, who is busy, to do now.

BRAVE men lost their lives in that Italian submarine, cut in two as it rose in the path of a destroyer. The last message from the men read: "We are all gathered at the prow, and in advancing inexorably, we are dying. Long live . . ."

Nobody will know the missing word. But it was surely one of these three: Italy, Mussolini, Fascismo. Probably "Italy," with Mussolini and Fascism in mind.

A "MYSTERIOUS woman" has amazed the gamblers at the French resort, Le Coquet, by playing every night six hours at the baccarat table and winning tremendously.

She wears huge emeralds, gamblers alone. Any truthful gambler will tell you that if the lady keeps it up she won't have the emeralds, or "a tray heaped up with 10,000-franc chips."

The wisest old croupier at Monte Carlo said to a young man: "You have won 30 times in succession. Now is the time for you to stop. But you won't. Nobody does. But when you lose all your money you will stop.

"That's why the bank always wins."

MME. HALIDE EDIB, Turkish feminist, once a harem inmate, says Turkish husbands with many wives were always thoroughly henpecked.

That is easy to believe. Brigham Young kept his wives in different houses so they couldn't pack him all at once. "One at a time" was his motto.

Solomon in his glory, with 1,000 wives and concubines, was nothing for a wise man to envy.

MR. POLAND, head of the Anti-Saloon league, legal department, requests Governor Smith of New York to use the state troopers and "dry up New York City."

It is a pleasant idea, but he might as well ask the governor to use the Boy Scouts to dry up the Atlantic Ocean. He can't do it.

TURNER OFFERS $1,000 FOR ANY FALSE RETURNS

Attorney General and Candidate's Action Due to Reports of Contemplated Fraud

CITES STATE STATUTE

Three in Race for G. O. P. Gubernatorial Nomination Speak Tonight

Columbus, Aug. 10—Offer of a $1,000 reward was made today by Attorney General Edward C. Turner for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person who may be guilty of fraudulent action in connection with Ohio's primary election next Tuesday.

Turner's offer, it was explained, was due to reports that illegal plans were contemplated with a view to thwarting "a fair and honest count" of the primary votes.

"Inasmuch as it has been represented to me that, in certain parts of the state, a fraudulent attempt will be made on election day to prevent an honest expression of the will of the people in the exercise of the elective franchise and a fraudulent attempt will be made to prevent a fair and honest count and report of the votes cast, I hereby offer a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person who wrongfully changes, alters, erases or tampers with, a name, word, or figure contained in any pollbook, tally-sheet, list book, or paper, or falsifies, marks, or writes, thereon with intent to defeat, hinder or prevent, a fair expression of the will of the people at the primary election next Tuesday," said Turner, directing attention to the penalty of from one to three years in the Ohio penitentiary, provided by law, for such guilty persons.

Three Speak Tonight

Turner, who is a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, announced that his reward offer would be good in the event of the conviction of any person accused of various other illegal action in connection with the primary election.

Turner is scheduled to make campaign speeches at Cincinnati this afternoon and tonight, Congressman James T. Begg, Sandusky, an aspirant for the G. O. P. nomination for governor, will make talks at Cleveland this afternoon and tonight.

Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, also a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, was scheduled to make an address tonight at Bethel, Clermont county.

Supporters of Cooper's candidacy made public what was said to be a copy of a telegram from Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Cincinnati, speaker of the national house of representa-

FLORIDA WATCHING FOR ANOTHER STORM

New Disturbance of Considerable Intensity Moving from West Indies

West Palm Beach, Fla., Aug. 10—While the storm-stricken Florida cities counted their damage and swept away the debris caused by the hurricane three days ago, residents anxiously watched today for signs of another disturbance reported to be heading this way.

The new storm of considerable intensity and accompanied by gales, was reported moving northwest from the West Indies at the rate of 18 miles an hour. At that rate, it may not strike before tomorrow or the next day and some hope was felt that it may veer in another direction.

The hurricane which swept the east coast from West Palm Beach north to Titusville and then turned northwest and hurled itself into the Gulf of Mexico was believed today to have caused four deaths, made about 100 homeless and did damage in private property, crops and public utilities exceeding $5,000,000.

Report of deaths was brought to the local Red Cross here by R. H. Hull, a fruit grower of Jupiter. Owing to the damage caused by the hurricane and torrential rains, he said it was impossible for him to confirm the report.

Hull has turned his huge orchard near Jupiter into a refugee camp where about 100 people gathered when their homes were destroyed or washed away by the storm and rains. Hull made the trip from Jupiter, 18 miles from here, over washed out roads, littered with debris. Hull estimated the damage at $150,000.

TO SEPARATE TWINS

Operation on Ohio Girls, Shunned "Freaks," Soon Due

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—America's only living Siamese twins, Margaret and Mary Gibbs, aged 17, Holyoke, Mass., are to undergo an operation soon in West Park Hospital, New York, so that they may be freed of the physical bond that joins them at the base of the spine. This was announced today by Dr. Francis P. Weston, New York surgeon.

FIRST DROWNING

Canton, Aug. 10—Charles Pritchard, 11, was listed today as the first drowning victim in the city limits here this season. He dove into a stream near the Wheeling Lake Erie tracks and failed to come up. After the body had been recovered, it was learned the youth struck his head on a rock,

Ice Cream Made in Marion in Hot Weather Months Is Enough to Form Line of Cones 937 Miles Long

ICE CREAM production is one of Marion's leading and most prosperous industries, especially at this season of the year.

While this is something generally known to the public in an abstract way, it remained for an industrious reporter to gather actual facts and figures this week to furnish statistical proof.

Not a trivial or inviting task to tackle at a time when a full-grown heat wave was enveloping this locality, but reporters must plod on, regardless of weather conditions. So, summed up, here are the figures multum in parvo, or what have you:

170,000 gallons, 34,000 cans, 11,900,000 cones, 59,500,000 inches, 4,950,833 feet, 4,080,000 dishes, and so on as far as you care to go.

The investigation resulted from a sort of inspiration on one of those days this week when the man who invented ice cream cones or Eskimo pies could have been elected president by almost a unanimous vote of the steaming populace.

The reporter walked into a local ice cream parlor and was impressed and astounded at the volume of frozen delicacy passing over the counter into parched throats in cones, milk-shakes, sodas and various other forms.

Surely, the young journalist decided, that one transaction in ice cream at a single drug store must be only an infinitesimal part of the unknown quantity sold in Marion during the four hot months of the year.

And investigation showed that infinitesimal was a word designating entirely too large dimensions.

There are, in this city, approximately 170,000 gallons of ice cream manufactured during these four torrid months.

Now contemplate some computations which required no small amount of cogitation and calculation. Those who attempt to verify the figures may acquire a headache but they may rest assured that it will be nothing compared to the one which tortured the dome of the reporter who tackled the job originally.

If these 170,000 gallons of ice

CANBY LODGE BUYS BUILDING ON S. MAIN ST.

Miller Market Acquired in Deal Approved at Meeting of Pythians Last Night

Purchase of the Miller market building on South Main st. by Canby Lodge No. 51, Knights of Pythias, was announced today by members of the lodge holding company.

The building is to be the future home of Canby lodge. The transaction, which involves a trade of the K. of P. building on North State st., now used as the C., D. & M. ticket office and station was completed today. The transaction was put through by George Orians, local realtor.

Will Add Third Story

Plans for remodeling the Miller building to suit the needs of the lodge include addition of a third story. Plans for the additional story are not complete, according to Henry O'Dowd, a member of the lodge holding company. When remodeling will start is not known, O'Dowd said today. Work may start within the next 30 days or it may be postponed until next spring, he said.

Purchase of the building by the lodge will not interfere with its present occupants, the Huskeep glove factory and the Miller market. Until the third story is added Canby lodge will remain in its present quarters in the Marion County Bank building, lodge officers said today.

Plans Not Announced

C. E. Miller, former owner of the Miller building, has not announced his plans for the North State st. building.

Possession of both buildings involved in the transaction will be given Nov. 1, it was said today.

The addition to the Miller building will include lodge rooms, billiard and card rooms and clubrooms, lodge officers stated today.

The transaction, which has been under way for several weeks, was given final approval last night at a meeting of the lodge.

Post Advertising for Wild West Show, To Appear Here Aug. 24

The number one advertising car of Miller Brothers' 101 Ranch Wild West show arrived in Marion today from Mansfield and soon the crew of 27 billposters, bannermen and lithographers were busy putting up the bills announcing the coming of the world's largest wild west show to Marion on Friday, Aug. 24, when the big top will be pitched on the Drake show grounds.

The show has just finished playing a two weeks' engagement in New York City for the benefit of the milk fund and over 300,000 people attended the performances there. The show travels from here to Toledo for a one-day stand and then to Detroit for a four-day engagement.

A new opening spectacle, "Julius Caesar," is a prelude to the regular wild west performance, and thrilling chariot races and gladiators in combat furnish the thrills. Cowboys, cowgirls and Mexican vaqueros, vie for honors in riding the bucking broncho. The Indians still attack the covered wagon, and the stage coach is held up, while cavalry of all nations march in formation.

The officers found a 130-gallon still, 13 barrels of mash and half a gallon of moonshine liquor, according to their report.

Hoover 54 Today

Republican Nominee Observes Anniversary Quietly on Eve of Acceptance of G. O. P. Honor; Stage Set for Notification Exercises

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Aug. 10—On the eve of his notification as the Republican nominee for president, Herbert Hoover today quietly observed his fifty-fourth birthday at his home here, surrounded by his family and a small group of friends.

The anniversary presented a climax to a saga of American opportunity. The man, who came to California three decades ago as a penniless youth seeking a job, sat in his luxurious home, surrounded by affluent friends, waiting to be notified that he had won the greatest gift in the keeping of a great political party.

The stage is set for the notification ceremony in Stanford stadium. Arrangements have been made to handle a crowd up to 150,000 people, although the Hoover managers will be satisfied with a host of 75,000 visitors. The exercises will begin at 5 o'clock (Marion time) with a band concert and at 6:30 o'clock Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, will tell Hoover formally how the Kansas City convention named him the Republican nominee.

Hoover will accept the nomination in a 7,100-word speech, in which he will lay down the Republican issues of the coming campaign. He will begin speaking shortly before 7 o'clock and his speech will last 40 minutes.

After the notification, Hoover will

Opportunity to Acquire Stock Offered Employes in Steam Shovel Co. Plan

Shares To Be Available at $40, Which Is More Than $4 Below Present Market Quotations; Installment Payments Provided; Bonus To Be Added to Dividends

Employes of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. will be given an opportunity to become stockholders in the company as a result of plan recently worked out by the directors. Conditions of the plan were announced to employes in a circular letter distributed today.

Employes may subscribe for common stock to be paid for in monthly installments deducted from their wages or salary. The price of the common stock a share is established at $40. This is more than $4 below the New York curb quotation. The common stock closed yesterday at 44¾ and has maintained an average of about 45 since the 100 percent stock dividend was issued several weeks ago.

2,000-Share Limit

A limit of 2,000 shares has been made on the amount of stock any employe may subscribe for. Subscriptions will be taken until the close of business on Aug. 31. Allotments will be made as soon after that date as possible.

According to the plan, stock subscribed for is to be paid for over a period not exceeding two years. No installment will be for less than $2 and none will be more than five per cent of any one month's salary or wage, according to the terms of the stock subscription plan. Stock certificates for the amount of stock subscribed for will be issued the employe when the monthly deductions from salary or wage equals the cost of the stock.

Bonus Offered

Although there will be nothing to prevent the employe from disposing of the stock after he has it fully paid for, the company is offering a bonus plan to induce him to keep the stock. The plan provides for a cash payment of $2 in addition to the regular dividend for a period of five years. The bonus will be paid in April of each year, beginning April, 1929.

In case the subscriber leaves the employ of the company before the stock is fully paid for, the amount already paid, plus interest at the rate of five percent, will be returned.

A board of trustees to settle all questions concerning stock subscriptions will be composed of G. H. Walker, J. L. Ackerson and W. F. Holt, officials of the company.

FIRST PLACE TAKEN BY CALIFORNIA CREW

England Beaten in Olympic Finals of Eight-Oared Event

Sloten, Holland, Aug. 10—California university, representing the United States as ably as ever a crew could do, won the Olympic eight-oared championship today, beating England in the finals by a half-length after a great struggle.

However, two American entries suffered defeat during the day, Ken Myers, Philadelphia, losing the single sculls title to Bob Pearce, Australia "superman," and the Penn Barge Club, Philadelphia, being defeated by England in the four-oared event without coxswain in a great finish.

California, in beating England, registered the fastest time made in the 2,000-meter course during the regatta, being clocked in 6:03 1-5. The British were "caught" in 6:05 3-5. The Bears thus did what they claimed they would do all along, even in the face of British criticism of their style—beat the English in the event the latter prized most.

MARION COUNTY WOMAN FLEES FROM PRISON

Mrs. Sadie Fosnaugh One of Pair in Escape at Marysville Reformatory

Mrs. Sadie Fosnaugh, 38, of near Morral, who was committed to the Marysville reformatory for women last March, walked away from the institution yesterday afternoon, according to information received today by Sheriff James A. Deal. Mrs. Fosnaugh was given a three-year sentence in the reformatory by the Wyandot county common pleas court on a charge of concealing stolen property.

Mother of 11 Leaves

Mrs. Pearl Lamey, 42, of near Bowling Green, mother of 11 children, disappeared with Mrs. Fosnaugh, according to reformatory officials. It is thought that Mrs. Lamey will return to her home, but so far no trace has been found of either of the missing women.

The two escaped women were picking beans in the prison fields with a gang of about 40. They escaped into a nearby woods when the gang was split into two groups. According to information from Marysville today there was only one guard in the field with the 40 prisoners. It is thought that Mrs. Fosnaugh was picked up by a waiting automobile.

Husband in Prison

Mrs. Fosnaugh's husband, John Fosnaugh, is serving from 10 to 30 years in the Ohio penitentiary. He was convicted in Wyandot county court last March on a charge of entering the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Nitrauer, on the Marion-Upper Sandusky rd., last February. After assaulting the aged pair, Fosnaugh is alleged to have stolen a sum of money, a watch, and the Nitrauer automobile.

Fred Ames, former boarder at the Fosnaugh home, and companion of Fosnaugh in the Nitrauer robbery, is also serving a 10-year term in the Ohio penitentiary.

SLAYER'S CAPTURE IS NEAR IN CLEVELAND

Wife Already Under Arrest After Fatal Shooting of Gangster

Cleveland, Aug. 10—As a result of aggressive and precise moves by local detectives, practically all details in the murder of Philip "Funnyface" Corry, 28-year-old gangster and drug addict, had been cleared up today. The murderer's wife is under arrest and the capture of the accused man himself is a matter of only a few hours, according to Detective Inspector Cornelius Cody.

Corry was mortally wounded as he stood at an east side street corner yesterday afternoon. A roadster, occupied by a man and woman, was parked a short distance away. The woman was driving.

The man stepped out, approached Corry, and spoke to him. He answered. There was a shot and Corry sank to the sidewalk, a bullet through his abdomen. The gunman walked rapidly to the parked roadster and the woman drove him away.

His gun may have been muffled. Two detectives, who were only a short distance away, did not hear it. Spectators at first thought Corry had been knifed. The detectives thought Corry had been merely knocked down. But one of them noted the license number of the automobile.

HEAT MOUNTS TO NEW HIGH

93 Degrees Recorded Here Yesterday; Marion Woman Overcome in Columbus

A new high mark for the summer was set here yesterday when the mercury soared to 93 degrees between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

While the mercury on two previous occasions reached 92 degrees, yesterday was the first time 93 was officially recorded.

Heat Victim Reported

A Mrs. William H. Fuller, said to be a Marion resident, collapsed from the heat in the statehouse yard in Columbus yesterday. She is reported in serious condition at Grant hospital. Her local address could not be learned.

The first victim of the heat which has gripped Marion residents this week, Virgil I. Altenberger, was reported improved at his home, 310 Park blvd., today. Mr. Altenberger collapsed while delivering ice Wednesday afternoon, during a 92-degree temperature.

60 Last Night

Last night the mercury dropped to 60 degrees, which was only six degrees less than the high for a year ago on the same date. At that time residents of this section experienced one of the coolest midsummer nights on record, the mercury having dropped to 47 degrees.

Although the mercury was on a rise again today and had reached 82 degrees at noon, relief from the heat is promised in local thundershowers this afternoon or tonight. Saturday will be fair and cooler, the official forecast says.

Nevada Man Overcome

Excessive heat in Crawford county, where the mercury climbed to 92, was responsible for the illness of Cecil Krichbaum, 20, of Nevada, overcome while picking berries on the Welty farm, three miles north of that place.

RELIEF FOR VICTIMS OF VOLCANO, QUAKES

Entire Southern Half of Paloeweh Island Devastated by Lava and Rocks

Batavia, Java, Aug. 10—Government relief measures are under way today at Paloeweh Island, in the Dutch East Indian archipelago, where about 1,000 persons were reported to have been killed by an eruption of the volcano Rokatinda, subsequent earthquake shocks and a tidal wave.

Paloeweh lies north of Flores. The entire southern half of the island, including six villages, was devastated by the gigantic flood of lava and rocks from the crater of the volcano.

The death list was further increased by earthquake shocks and a tidal wave 20 feet high which rolled in from the sea from a submarine quake.

Many persons who had fled into the water to escape the flow of molten lava were drowned when the boats upon which they took refuge were swamped by the tidal wave.

Dutch military and naval authorities are cooperating with the civilian officials to aid the hundreds of injured.

SEARCH FOR BODY

Youth Drowned in Abandoned Gravel Pit at Dayton

Dayton, Aug. 10—Search for the body of the third recent drowning victim in this Dayton area was continued here today. Marty Dorsey was the third boy to be drowned, going beyond his depth in an abandoned gravel pit.

Perhaps the saddest tragedy occurred in Bear Creek when Jack Harris, 5, son of a policeman, drowned before his father's eyes. The officer recovered the body in a few minutes and applied artificial respiration but tears without results.

Firemen recovered the body of Thomas Dolinski, 5, the week's first victim. The body had been in the water since Tuesday.

FACTORY HEADS HERE REPORT BUSINESS GOOD

Several Plants Working at Full Capacity, with Orders Ahead

FEW IN OFF-SEASON

Survey Indicates Marion Industrial Situation Is Unusually Favorable

"Good," seems to be the adjective that best describes the industrial situation in Marion after interviewing heads of the leading industries in the city.

While a number of officials report their plants to be working at full capacity, other industries are now passing through their "off season" and have curtailed production to a certain extent. The most optimistic report of all came from the Marion Steam Shovel Co., whose president, A. L. Ackerson, said that the plant now has more orders than at any time in its history.

Many of the smaller factories of the city, while they do not employ a large number of men, are providing many with steady work the year around. A number of these factories are gradually increasing their forces, their officials state.

Rolling Road Equipment

The Huber Manufacturing Co. while experiencing an off season on thresher production, orders for road machines are very satisfactory, E. C. Barlow, president, said. The company has recently sold 13 road machines to the North Carolina and 11 to the Texas state highway department.

Export trade is also bringing the Huber Co. a good volume of business, according to Mr. Barlow. Thirty-six tractors have recently been shipped to Australia. Another machine that is expected to increase the output of the plant is the combined thresher and harvester now being developed. During the last several weeks one of the machines has been used extensively in the wheat fields of Kansas for testing purposes.

The Huber plant at present is employing about 375 men. The present force shows no increase over a year ago.

Silo Mill Production

The Sunnyshank Silo Mill is employing about 200 persons. There has been no increase in recent months, according to W. E. Bartholomew, superintendent. At present the plant is working on a four-day a week basis but has retained the night force. The present production is about 50 per cent of the capacity of the plant, Mr. Bartholomew said.

With steel prices holding fairly steady the Pollak Steel Co. is enjoying a degree of prosperity, according to the statement of its works manager, R. H. Knecht. The 275 men on the pay-

PRISONER RUNS TO DEATH AT SING SING

Guards Forced To Restrain Slayer Anxious To "Get It Over With"

Ossining, N. Y., Aug. 10—Prison guards at Sing Sing prison revealed today that Alexander Kalinowski, 40, one of the three murderers executed in the death house late last night, was so anxious to "get it over with" that he eagerly ran from his cell down the corridor which leads to the electric chair. The guards had to restrain him and march him to the "little green door" in an orderly manner.

The other two men executed were Daniel Graham, 38, and George Appel, 26. All three were cheerful at the end. Although they prayed, they were smiling as they went into the death chamber, and Appel commented with a laugh, while the guards were strapping him in, "well, I'll be a baked apple soon."

FURNITURE DEALER SLAIN AT CUSHOCTON

Police Believe Murder Culmination of Triangular Love Affair

Cushocton, Aug. 10—Ed Ross, 35, local furniture dealer, lay dead here today of bullet wounds in what police believe was the culmination of a triangular love affair.

Police detained Earl W. Rudd of New Philadelphia, and are holding him in the city prison pending a thorough investigation of the shooting. All-night questioning failed to shake Rudd's story that he had no part in the shooting.

The furniture dealer was shot in the home of Elavine Pigman, 20, whom police say was Ross's former sweetheart. He died in City hospital a short time later.

12-YEAR-OLD YOUTH DIES FROM INJURIES IN ACCIDENT

Mansfield, Aug. 10—Willard Hall, 12, is dead today from injuries received Tuesday when the automobile driven by Mrs. Ethel Hall struck him as he was crossing the street in front of his home here.

The boy was riding when Mrs. Hall turned, the fender and the rear wheel of the car passing over the boy's body, fracturing his skull and causing internal injuries.

Thirty-Sixth Annual Fair To Open at Richwood Next Week

MAKE FINAL PLANS FOR 4-DAY EVENT

Tuesday Set as Opening Day; Large Number of Exhibits on Display

MANY ENTRIES EXPECTED

Victor Peters To Act as Starter for Race Program

Richwood, Aug. 10—Final plans for the annual Richwood fair which will get under way here next week, are being made by officials of the fair association. The fair, which will be its thirty-sixth revival, will open next Tuesday for a four-day period.

According to a report of the secretary of the fair, the various speed classes have already attracted a sufficient entries to insure a complete racing program every day of the fair.

The vegetable department will have the largest show of garden products ever on exhibit here, according to officials. The display of canned and baked goods is also expected to be large.

Twelve boys' and girls' clubs will be represented in the various 4-H club contests to be held during the fair, this year.

Reconditioning of the grounds and the race track has been under way during the past week. The local track is considered one of the fastest in the state, according to track officials.

Victor Peters, who has appeared as judge for several of the past fair seasons will again act as starter for the races. In addition to the usual purses, the fair board has decided to offer a sum of $50 in the free-for-all trot and the free-for-all pace to the horse which lowers the track record in the events.

NEVADA STROLLERS CLUB ENTERTAINED AT BUCYRUS

Nevada, Aug. 10—Mrs. Lelah Winter entertained the Strollers Club at her home in Bucyrus, Wednesday afternoon. Twelve members were present. Mrs. Anna Pfuterer and Mrs. Grace Baer, of Bucyrus, and Miss Pauline Bender, of Nevada, were guests.

WOMEN HOLD HIGH PLACE AS WRITERS

"ONE of the most remarkable features of American fiction in the twentieth century is the place and space occupied by women writers", William Lyon Phelps states in his recently published "Twentieth Century American Novels." To corroborate his statement he lists nine representative American novels, six of which are written by women. Edith Wharton's name heads the list with "The Age of Innocence."

Anne Douglas Sedgwick follows as the author of "The Little French Girl," and the list continues with Dorothy Canfield (Fisher) "Her Son's Wife"; Willa Cather, "The Professor's House"; Zona Gale, "Miss Lulu Bett" and Edna Ferber, "So Big."

The men listed are Booth Tarkington, Sinclair Lewis and Joseph Hergesheimer.

"Twentieth Century American Novels" is one of the series of reading courses, "Reading with a Purpose," published by the American Library association.

YOU CAN PROFIT

When You Know How Valuable This Service Can Be To You

THE banks of this community are here to help you prosper. Are you thoroughly familiar with the broad opportunities for profit offered you by your bank? The value you derive from your bank connection depends upon how you utilize it. Bank service, modern and progressive, is here—ready and waiting all the time. Most people can find many added ways to employ it profitably. Perhaps the most frequently overlooked part of this service is the checking account.

Your checking account nets you the largest gains when it consistently carries a reasonable reserve on deposit. Then, this one department of bank service secures for you at least seven distinct advantages:

1. Absolute proof of payment.
2. Great convenience and enormous saving of time in making payments.
3. Makes valuable financial counsel available.
4. Visualizes expenses, aiding control and insuring accuracy.
5. Brings added prestige.
6. Provides instant ready money.
7. Keeps money safe.

Those are some of the direct tangible benefits of an adequate checking account. The indirect returns are no less important.

Indirect Benefits

When you increase your bank balance, that much additional cash is available for community use. Banks provide funds for carrying on the great public utilities, the manufacturing interests, home-building, and retail institutions. Your surplus helps them prosper. They build prosperity in your city and you again share in the profits of your surplus.

Thus a surplus in your checking account serves you directly in seven ways, and indirectly through your contribution to community prosperity. Your business ability creates a surplus which helps carry on the life of the community and keeps astir the sources upon which you depend for your own commerce. An adequate balance serves you well.

THE LARUE NEWS ENDORSES KNAPP For CONGRESS

The LaRue News, one of the old reliable Republican newspapers of this Congressional district, makes a strong editorial endorsement of George B. Knapp for the Republican nomination for Congress.

(From the LaRue News)

(Editorial)

THE MAN FOR CONGRESS

"The Democrats of this congressional district will nominate Brooks Fletcher for third term, as he has no opposition in the Democratic primary next Tuesday. Whom shall the Republicans nominate for Congress?"

"This question is settled with the News, as it is important that we nominate a man who can be elected. Eagleson and McLaughlin have made no campaigns and will not be in the picture when the votes are counted, as neither of these men are considered seriously in any county in the district."

"The Republicans throughout the district are in agreement that the fight is now between Knapp and Mouser, and during the past week no Republican really interested in Republican success questions the fact that Knapp is the man to nominate to win in November. The vital factor that settled this question was Mr. Mouser's refusal to answer a questionnaire and take a definite position with the temperance voters on the temperance question. Mouser was given time to take a definite position. He failed and as a result the women have published their report. The report indicates Knapp is "satisfactory," and Mouser as "unsatisfactory." No Republican can expect to win against Brooks Fletcher without the support of the temperance people, and the temperance people of the district are back of Knapp. The LaRue News is a Republican newspaper and we are with the temperance cause. The News is for George B. Knapp for Congress and recommend him to our readers. We feel that we can win with Knapp in November. The News has known George B. Knapp for 20 years and he suits us."

Nominate Knapp Next Tuesday

We Can Win with Knapp in November

Both of the Republican newspapers in Marion County—The Marion Daily Star, and the LaRue News have endorsed George B. Knapp for the Republican nomination. We believe that Knapp will be nominated by a splendid majority by the Republicans of this district next Tuesday. He is the candidate that all of the Republican men and women can support in the primary and can vote for at the election in November.

George N. Young of Tiffin is a candidate for State Senator from this senatorial district. Mr. Young needs no introduction to the voters of Seneca county, having been elected three times clerk of courts with increased majority each time and served as postmaster under the Wilson administration.

As an official he has always been courageous and fearless in the discharge of his duties. It was through his progressive spirit that established the mail service in Tiffin on a very efficient basis, establishing stations throughout the city and a special delivery service to the factories. If he is nominated and elected to the office of State Senator, this district will have a representative in the upper house of the General Assembly who will at all times be fighting for the people of his district and for things that will benefit the people of the state in general. Born and raised on the farm he has always been in close touch with the agricultural interests, having interests in many business enterprises, he is well qualified to represent the people of this district.

Workmen Hope Water Will Recede Enough To Clear Line Today

Pittsburgh, Aug. 10—High waters washed out the track of the Pennsylvania railroad at North Sewickley, derailing an engine and six cars of the Newcastle-Alliance passenger train and injuring two trainmen. None of the 75 passenger was injured. W. A. Glass, engineer and Jenkins, fireman, both of Newcastle, were reported hurt. They were taken to an Alliance hospital. The passengers were transferred to a relief train from Pittsburgh and continued their journeys.

WASTE OF BY-PRODUCTS BLAMED FOR TROUBLES

Chicago—Pointing out that immense sums are lost yearly through waste of farm by-products, Dr. H. G. Knight, chemical bureau chief of the department of agriculture declared that chemical research has practically solved this phase of the agricultural problem.

In his address before the opening session of the American Chemical society institute at Northwest university, Dr. Knight told the society that "the disposal of cornstalks, straw, and other agricultural residue to manufacturers should be carefully considered by farmers." While an offer of cash may tempt the farmer to sell the agriculture head said "the product is of far greater value in the end when utilized on the farm."

Dr. Knight further declared that "substantial additions to the nations wealth will result when experiments are completed."

LAKE ERIE RUM RUNNERS HAVE REGULAR SCHEDULE

Lorain, O.—How rum running is carried on despite the vigilance of customs officials along the shores of Lake Erie, was described here recently by a reputed smuggler. The runner, who, it was said, had imbibed somewhat freely of the cup that cheers, on the day he told his story stated that a regular schedule was maintained daily between Canada and a point near Cleveland. He declared a boat, carrying a cargo of 200 cases of beer, shoves off each night from Canadian shores for American warehouses, after taking aboard cargo during the day.

The beer, which costs about $2.50 per case in Canadian government stores, brings from five to six times that sum in the United States, the runner declared.

30 AMERICAN STUDENTS TOUR EUROPE ON BIKES

Hamburg—Bicycles have grown scarce as horses in the United States, but a group of some 30 American students is now making a bicycle tour which will cover a considerable part of Western Germany.

From Freiburg in Baden they will go on via Basle to Switzerland and thence through France to Boulogne, where they will sail in August 18 for America.

BRITISH PROGRESS IN AERIAL TRAVEL

More Than 500,000 Use Aircraft Without One Fatal Accident in 1927

London, Aug. 10—While more than 500,000 persons flew in British aircraft during the year 1927, not one fatal accident occured to mar the record of the commercial paid for their trip, it is revealed in a report issued by the air ministry.

There was no serious accident of any sort in regular air transport in the last year, the third in succession to hold this record, and in its report, the Ministry states "no fare-paying passenger was injured through a mishap to any airplane registered in the British Isles.

Civil Flying Developed

The report states that "statistics emphasize the considerable all-round development of civil flying."

The record number of 28,764 cross-channel passengers was carried by British and foreign aircraft, and increases of 3,000 on the figure for 1926. The British share amounted to 57 per cent.

Although the number of passengers increased on all British services as compared with 1926, the number of flights and the weight of cargo both decreased as follows:

	1926	1927
Passengers	16,775	18,874
Mileage Flown.....	840,000	769,000
No. of Flights.....	4,777	4,450
Cargo (tons)	679	593

Joy-riding is on the boom, the report revealed, and it was estimated that at least 500,000 persons flew during the year, for pleasure, profit or speed.

Clubs Make Headway

Light plane clubs are making strong headway, and progress was recorded in practically all fields of flight. In accidents to civil machines, including racing and test planes, five lives were lost.

The report reveals that in 1927 the British government paid approximately $1,150,000 in subsidies to the Imperial airways. The German government gave the Luft Hansa approximately $5,350,000, while the United States subsidized its postal lines to the extent of $2,000,000.

A man's cup of joy resembles an after-dinner coffee cup, but his cup of sorrow holds several gallons.

There is plenty of room at the top, but you can't make the small potatoes believe it.

LIVE IN PIANO BOX

A. M. Bonge, who works as a movie theater doorman in New York while studying art, and Eunice Lyle, actress, were married and are spending their honeymoon at Biloxi, Miss., their love nest being a child's playhouse built from a large piano box by the bride's brother. They will soon return to their respective occupations in New York.

Find Strange Greetings on Store Appointment Books

Denver, Aug. 10—Department store appointment books, which are provided for the convenience of local shoppers in the lobbies of two of the larger department stores in downtown Denver, recently proved an interesting subject for a survey here recently, when some of the messages were read.

"I've waited now for 45 minutes—keep this up and you can get yourself a new wife, dearie," read one of the notations from a Denver woman to her husband.

Another woman became angry with her husband when he didn't show up for an appointment with her and left this note: "Max—at least I didn't think you'd ditch me. I waited almost a half hour—I'm sure I'll enjoy holding hands with my imagination at that picture show. Be sure and be here after the show—at 5:30 p. m.—Lil."

Husband's Answer

The answer from the husband of the above follows: "Lillian, dear, guess I made a mistake about the place to meet you—or else you changed your mind. Gee, I'm sorry. I'll be home early and I'll have a little surprise for you—M."

Some of the more domestically inclined notes included:

"Jim—Sorry there'll be no necking tonight. Pop's in town.—R."

"Zel—This line just to let you know I'm back on the job. Didn't find out anything.—Minnie."

"Can't get a bath until 10—It takes an hour for the display, so I'll meet you at 12."—C."

"Jibs—I'm in the sox dept. filling a pair of silk hose that yours truly must buy.—Khiki."

Even little Danny Cupid comes in for his share of the announcements.

"Sweetheart of mine—I'll always love you. Don't come over at 10. Auntie's still in town, darn 'er.—Thel."

"Jud—Baby wants you and needs you. Please come back.—H."

Scores Knockout

Cupid scored a knockout, evidently, on this couple, it's a joke on you. I have eloped.—Will write when we get to Ohio.—Amie."

Quite a few of the appointment booking are in code language, such as "B-W-T 4 N."

One which was evidently not written by a college graduate was: "Jim—Listen here, I ain't gonna wait all day for you. You're not so swell, you know.—Migs."

DUPONT READY TO SUPPORT AL SMITH

Gets Leave of Absence from General Motors: Statement Expected Soon

New York, Aug. 10—Granted indefinite leave of absence as chairman of the board of General Motors corporation, Pierre S. DuPont, one of America's wealthiest men, prepared today for an active part in the campaign to send Gov. Alfred E. Smith to the White House.

Although the reason formally stated in his resignation was that he did not wish the General Motors corporation to be identified in the public mind with his activities as a director of the Association against the Prohibition Amendment, intimate associates declared today that the step was intended to pave the way for an open declaration in favor of Smith.

Declaring that DuPont's activities for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment were generally understood not to involve the corporation, the General Motors board declined to accept the resignation, granting the leave of absence instead.

A statement of DuPont's immediate plans for the Smith campaign was expected at Democratic headquarters here soon.

Wall Street reports that the compromise in the General Motors directorate indicated by the leave of absence signalized a lasting peace between two important groups of large stockholders on the question of political activity by members of the board, were received without comment at Democratic headquarters.

Neither John J. Raskob, chairman of the national committee, who resigned as chairman of the General Motors finance committee two weeks ago, nor any member of the board, would discuss a report circulated in the financial district today that a considerable group of the directorate demanded the complete withdrawal of all who elected to take an active part in the presidential campaign.

WESTERN GIRL STRENGTHENED

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Manchester, So. Dakota.—"I was in a terribly weak and run-down condition when a friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it and after a short time I felt better. We are a family of five and live on a 360-acre farm, so I have quite a good deal to do both indoors and out. At first I was unable to do anything and had to have a girl, but after taking the Vegetable Compound I finally gained my strength back and also gained considerable in weight."—Mrs. Otto J. Meyer, R. SEVEN STATES CALL FOR BRAILLE BOOKS

Fifty Per Cent of Books for Blind in Chicago Library Pleasure Type

Chicago, Aug. 10—Tales of adventure, romance and lore are the windows through which the blind seek to escape from their sightlessness.

Over fifty per cent of the books embossed in Braille—the special script for blind readers are for pleasure reading. Among the most popular ones are "Captain Blood," "Scaramouche," "The Count of Monte Cristo," "The Music Master," "Stella Dallas," "The Royal Road to Romance," and works by Edna Ferber, Karl Sandburg, Peter B. Kyne, Rex Beach, Harold Bell Wright and Zane Gray.

The section of the Chicago Public library devoted to the blind has a circulation which extends to seven states.

Last year 23,494 volumes, and 3,823 periodicals, all transcribed into Braille symbols were circulated, serving 816 readers.

The remainder of the books for the blind, those which are not read for pleasure, are of professional interest. It is difficult to find any occupation which blind men and women have not entered.

After the war, when the Braille system of raised symbols was adopted over the world for the first time, books in other systems for the blind were largely discarded throughout this country. In re-building, the government, which appropriates $75,000 a year to maintain a press for the printing of books for the blind, started with the first grade books and worked up.

High schools have been well taken care of so far but there is little in comparison for advanced readers.

CLEVELAND GETS RESULTS IN FIGHT

Campaign Being Waged on Loan Sharks by Legal Aid Society

Cleveland, Aug. 10—The campaign waged by the Legal Aid Society and Cleveland Better Business Bureau against usurious money lenders or the so-called "loan sharks" has already brought results, Claude Clark attorney for Legal Aid declared.

The fight to drive these "salary buyers" from Cleveland started, Clark explained, when railroad workers and other employes complained they were forced to pay as high as 200 per cent yearly interest on loans as small as $25.

According to Clark, results so far accomplished were:

1. Employers are refusing to honor garnishee notices;

2. Employes are not discharged when salary assignments are presented as formerly to employers;

3. Legal actions never have brought when borrowers in many cases refuse to make further payments after the sums loaned have been repaid several times;

4. Employers inform their workmen that many state licensed loan companies in Cleveland, can legitimately serve the needs of the borrower.

State Sets Friday, Aug. 31 As Date For Examination of Elementary Teachers

Kenton Schools To Open First Monday or Tuesday in September; Education Department Suggests Boards Change Time of Start of Daily Classes

Kenton, Aug. 10—Final examination this year for elementary teachers will be held Friday, August 31, it was announced today by C. A. Arganbright, county superintendent of schools.

Information containing the date was received yesterday from the state department of education at Columbus.

In letters mailed to the clerks and presidents of the rural and village school board throughout the county, Superintendent Arganbright has listed a series of instructions and suggestions relative to the opening of the fall term. One of the principal items contained in the communication is that touching upon the date for school opening. While the opening day is optional with the respective boards, it was suggested that all schools be opened either the first Monday or Tuesday in September.

It was further suggested that, while the first Monday in Labor day, schools would convene and organize by having the children classified as to classes, furnished with text books and assigned lessons ready for full class room work the following day.

Nine o'clock was also suggested as the popular hour for school opening although this matter also rests with the local boards.

BRAKEMAN SUES ERIE FOR $60,000

Arthur E. Merriman, of Marion, Plaintiff in Action Brought in Federal Court

Asking $60,000 damages, Arthur E. Merriman, of Marion, today filed suit in federal court in Cleveland against the Erie Railroad Co.

Merriman says he suffered permanent injuries when he fell from the top of a box-car in the Erie yard here, while employed by the road as a brakeman.

He charges that the runway on top of the car was in a bad state of repair.

AMERICAN ARMY TRUCKS STILL USED BY FRENCH

Paris—Uncle Sam's army trucks are still doing good service on French roads, 10 years after the Armistice! Fifteen thousand of 'em, and chances are they will last another 10 years.

Eleven years of war and peace have not diminished their usefulness in the least. Compare this with the passenger cars left behind by the Army. Of 7,000 odd cars, only a few are in commission today.

THE WORLD HAS A NEW AND FINER MOTOR CAR

Twin Ignition means Power, Speed, Economy

People who already have driven the new Twin-Ignition-motored Nash "400" have instantly realized its superiority in performance to cars with older types of motors.

In this new car, they discover more power and speed than they will ever care to use. They find a real thrill in the snap of Twin-Ignition traffic getaway.

Has Nash accomplished these remarkable results by building a larger motor—one with an enormous appetite for gasoline?

Or by building a high-compression motor that needs special, high-priced fuels?

The answer to both questions is, "No". Nash has developed new principles of high-compression motor construction which create more power, more speed, with ordinary gasoline, and less of it!

Today the Twin-Ignition, 12-spark-plug, high-compression motor powers all Nash "400" Advanced and Special Six models.

We'll let you drive a Twin-Ignition-motored Nash "400", anytime.

Statement of James A. Deal, Sheriff

It has been falsely stated innumberable times to the Republican Voters of Marion County, for the purpose of making political capital, that I, the brother of George Deal, Republican Candidate for the office of Sheriff, would, in the event of his nomination and election, be appointed as his deputy or be connected in an official way with this important office.

I take this as the only means of repudiating this fabrication, and I promise the Republicans and Democrats of this great County, whom I have endeavored to serve as Sheriff faithfully and honorably, that in the event of the nomination and election of George Deal, I shall not, under any circumstances, accept any appointment under his administration as Sheriff. I trust that his many friends will not be misled by eleventh hour campaign canards.

I am now serving my second term as Sheriff of this County, and during my terms of office, have endeavored to discharge the duties of my trust impartially, fairly and justly, and I believe that an investigation of the records of the Court will prove this statement to be true. At this writing, I have served as Sheriff three years and seven months, and George Deal did not become connected with the office until W. Dexter Hazen, my deputy, accepted another important position on the 1st day of March, 1927. Thus the public will appreciate that he has been with me as deputy for a period of only a few days more than sixteen months.

UNKNOWN'S TOMB READY AT ARLINGTON

Only Selection of Appropriate Design from Five Drawings Needed

Washington, Aug. 10—The tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, which since Nov. 11, 1921, has been marked with a plain marble slab, will be completed, and the interment of unnamed American dead of the World War accomplished within a year.

The announcement from the War department commission in charge of the work, was based on the fact that the commission at present only the selection of an appropriate design for the tomb from five drawings and appropriation of the necessary funds for construction of the work, $50,000, by Congress, for action of the work.

It is considered likely Congress will appropriate the funds early in December, so that work will start immediately thereafter.

Five Competitors

In the meantime five competitors for the honor to be used to complete the tomb are perfecting their drawings. The five designs were selected from 73 submitted to the commission. No date has been set for announcement of the winning design, but it will probably be made early this fall.

Models of the work was shown in the designs submitted t the judges appointed by the War Department to pick the memorial, and it was a hard matter to pick the best five from the group. The five group is now on exhibition in the War Department museum here. They range from the utmost simplicity to the grandeur and complication of carving and design work.

The five successful competitors in the contest were picked by a jury representing the American Institute of Architects, the Gold Star Mothers, and the American Legion. The drawings were entered without names attached, and names were placed in envelopes, which were opened after the winning designs had been picked, by Victor Mindeleff, Washington architectural advisor to the group in charge of the contest. In most cases architects and sculptors combined in submitting designs.

Winning Designs

Those submitting the winning designs were: Schweinfurth, Ripley and LeBoutillier, architects, of Boston; Thomas Hudson Jones, sculptor and Mortimer Rich, architect of New York; Harry Sternfeld, architect and Gaetano, sculptor, of Philadelphia; James Earl Fraser, sculptor and Egerton Swartwout, architect, of New York; and Horace W. Pealee, architect and Carl Mose, sculptor of Washington.

Judges were Charles E. Coolidge, Boston; D. H. Burnham, Chicago, and Paul Cret, Philadelphia, representing the American Institute of Architects; Mrs. William D. Rock of Philadelphia, representing the Gold Star Mothers, and Colonel Hanford MacNider representing the American Legion.

COMMISSION FIXES COMMERCIAL ZONE

Silver st. Corner Listed in Recommendation to City Council

The city planning commission, at a called meeting held in the office of Mayor Hazen last night, passed a resolution recommending to city council that the northwest corner of Silver and Commercial sts. be placed in the commercial zone.

The resolution was the result of a petition filed with the commission by A. W. Granger, asking for permission to erect a storeroom on the corner. The matter will be presented to city council at its meeting Monday night.

A petition filed by the Roxana Petroleum corporation, asking permission to erect a filling station on the southeast corner of Baker and Center sts., also considered by the commission last night, is being held pending submission of the plans of the proposed building to the commission.

It was specified by the commission that the building must be of stone or brick and of a nature that would not tend to lower the standard of the neighborhood.

OSGOOD dropped two full games behind the leaders in the Industrial league last night by losing their contest with Fairfield, 4 to 1.

Unless the league leaders take a notion to lose the balance of their games, the Osgood nine will be forced to be content with third place or less in the final league standings.

While C., D. & M. were being handed a contest by the Excavators, the Shovel club continued to remain in a tie for first place by defeating Hocking Valley in a one sided fray, 10 to 1. The Shovels touched Gruber for 12 hits while Frericks kept his four hits to the railroaders well scattered. Huber defeated the Erie Roundhouse, 5 to 4 in seven innings. Tonight contests in the Commercial league will be played.

ENGLISH WILL SEEK LIGHTER AND LARGER BALL TO CUT DRIVES

Assault of Bobby Jones on St. Andrews Leads to Proposed Change

U. S. TO ACCEPT

Secretary of British Association To Sound Out American Committee

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—The lighter golf ball almost surely is coming into adoption, perhaps immediately but certainly within two years time.

This was the semi-official sentiment expressed today at the headquarters of the United States association on Great Britain's proposal to curtail long hitting by the introduction of a larger and lighter ball. The American officials merely were awaiting the arrival of Henry Gullen, secretary of the Royal and Ancient committee of St. Andrew's, with British suggestions for the proposed new ball before committing themselves definitely.

The British official will arrive on Monday aboard the Baltic and much of the preliminary detail, looking toward the proposed adoption of this ball, will be cleared up in conferences with various U. S. G. A. bodies, including the ball and implement committee. These conferences will be held largely for the purpose of learning British official sentiment on the question, the Americans admitting that they are strictly on the defensive in this matter.

Would Accept

"If the British ask for what they are supposed to want, a ball of 1.55 ounces in weight and 1.68 inches in diameter, I don't see how we can do other than accept the proposal, whole hog," declared one American official today. "For the specifications quoted are exactly those that we proposed in 1925, only to have the English decline to sanction the idea. They apparently have changed their minds but we can't afford to change ours. We sponsored the idea and must stand behind it."

The official vote on the proposal will be taken by the executive committee during the amateur championship at Brae Burn in September. This vote, according to the word passed along, is likely to follow the lead of the Royal and Ancient decision, which also will be handed down in September. It is believed that Secretary Gullen already has the forecast of that vote in his pocket, so that his arrival on Monday probably will ordain the nature of the action to be taken.

Jones Caused Change

That the British have seen fit to do a right-about-face on their refusal of Bill Fownes' plan in 1925 is directly attributed here to the record 285 with which Bobby Jones humbled their famous St. Andrews course in the British championship. The sentiment of the British public is not behind the proposed change—a straw vote was almost unanimously in favor of a retention of the present ball—but officialdom on the other side has looked with no great favor on the flouting their traditions received when Jones last won their title.

On one thing, they are adamant. They refuse to alter hallowed St. Andrews, as Bobby's performance would seem to demand. They haven't the money for the operation, either, and besides, the municipality wouldn't permit what it undoubtedly would term such a violation of its links shrine.

Therefore, it is assumed that fear of what the wind of its seaside course would do to a lighter ball influenced England's stand in 1925. And fear of what Jones might do to its most esteemed of all courses when he goes back there again is supposed to have been the abiding influence in determining their present attitude. This attitude also is believed to have become virtually established and official, in view of the fact that the British, always conservative, have seen fit to take the initiative by opening negotiations.

"DOC" STITH IS JUST ANOTHER FORD WHEN BUTLERS WIN, 5 TO 2

Columbus Team Weakens in Sixth Inning; Toomire Allows Six Hits

FACING "Doc" Stith, ace of Columbus fast ball hurlers, for the first time the Butler Clothiers recreation ball team won a hard fought battle from the Reichenbach Fords of the capital city yesterday at Central diamond, 5 to 2.

The local aggregation was unable to do anything at all with the puzzling delivery of the speed ball artist for the first six frames, exactly 22 men facing Mr. Stith in this time. At the end of the sixth inning the Butlers made three hits and Bud Cram had two of them, Fido Robbins getting the other. However the visitors were doing less than that to Toomire the ace of the local hurling staff. Their first run had come in on a two base smack, a single and an error by Ed Fisher, Butler shortfielder, Toomire granted just six hits while Stith was giving two more during the entire game. For the Clothiers, Robbins' sensational fielding stood out while Cram was the main shining light on the offense.

The unlucky eighth which saw the collapse of the whole Columbus team including Stith was started by Bud Cram who worked his second walk. After Lowe had whiffed, Toomire hit to Stith who threw to Rogers for a force out but the second sacker when his infield scratch was safe. Robbins hit to Rogers whose throw home was low and one run was in and the bases still filled, but Toomire tried to score on the same play and was out Burke to Markham. Whitcum singled to right field and Niemeyer and Robbins plated. Whitcum was out Rogers to Wilson trying to stretch his hit into a double, ending the rally. Toomire held the visitors safe the rest of the way. The box score follows:

Fords	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Markham, c	2	1	0	6	0	1
Purcell, lf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Burke, 3b	4	0	1	0	3	0

TUNNEY REFUSES PRESS PUBLICITY

Reporter Forces Champ into Corner and Learns That He Is Private Citizen; Says No More Photographs Will Be Taken of Himself or Wife

(Copyright 1928 by International News Service)

SOUTH, BRISTOL, Maine, Aug. 10—Gene Tunney, who discarded the world's heavyweight boxing crown in favor of matrimony was cornered today on the island of his fiancee.

The International News Service reporter was the first and only reporter to talk with the Shakespearian boxer whose engagement to marry Josephine Rowland "Polly" Lauder, was announced formally by the "$50,000,000 heiress'" mother.

By motorboat, the reporter was taken to the rear of John's island, where the Lauder summer home is located.

Through the surf and over rocks the reporter plunged and bumped, eluded three guards and soaked to the skin, knocked at the front door of the camp

A butler denied that Tunney was present. Then Mrs. Lauder came to the door. Graciously, she waved the butler back and said that "Mr. Tunney" would see the visitor.

Gene of the former marines entered the rustic room. Almost without questioning he began his speech.

"I am a private citizen," he said. "I intend to remain so. I will not discuss my affairs. My picture will never be taken again.

"If my picture is ever taken from this day on, it will be without my knowledge.

"If a man announced in England that he was retired to private life, the public over there would never bother him again.

The International News Service reporter inquired if Gene meant the public that had bestowed $2,000,000 on the boxer, but Tunney did not hear apparently.

"The public," continued the former title holder, "would not rush in to shake his hand and tear his clothes in the rush.

"I don't believe it would be proper for me to add or subtract to or from (Tunney was very specific on the 'to or from') Mrs. Lauder's formal announcement in the papers.

"I am out of the public eye and I don't see why newspapers should follow me now."

The reporter, water dripping from his clothing, suggested that the newspapers had placed Tunney before the public eye for month after month without much previous objection on his part.

"The newspapers have done a lot for me," Tunney agreed, "and I am grateful for it.

"But my family does not care for pictures in newspapers and my mother and sisters have never been photographed by newspapers in all this time.

"Those now dear to me also do not care for pictures. Miss Lauder will not be photographed."

His 21-year-old fiancee's command and ultimatum led Gene to relinquish the heavyweight title, it was understood here today.

STATE RESERVES TO GET HARD SCHEDULE

Wesleyan Seconds Will Open Columbus Season on Oct. 13

Columbus, Aug. 10—With one of the most attractive varsity football schedules in years, fans who like their grid menu, a-la-Buckeye, are also looking forward to the second team schedule booked by Ohio State University for the coming fall.

Among the first major institutions in the country to schedule reserve team games, Ohio State has lined up a choice array of opposition for second-string frays.

Judging from the 1927 strength of the teams to be met in these reserve games, the Buckeye seconds are in for some strenuous afternoons in October and November.

Wesleyan Reserves open the at-home second team schedule here Oct. 13. A week later while the varsity is playing Michigan here, the Buckeye reserves go to Ann Arbor. Kentucky seconds visit the Stadium Oct. 27 while the University of Akron reserves share in a "double-header" here Nov. 10, the day of the Iowa-Ohio varsity fray.

Illinois closes the stadium season here Nov. 24 while the two varsity elevens are fighting it out at Urbana. Prices for all reserve team games has been set at $1.00 with no reserved seats sold.

LEFTY HEIMACH WINS FIRST START AGAINST BOSTON RED SOX, 7-1

Athletics Stay Within 4½ Games of Leaders by Beating Senators

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—The sleight-of-hand ability of Professor Miller Huggins, director of those temperamental Yankees, today is the envy of 15 other big league managers. The professor never pulled a rabbit out of a hat, but he demonstrated an even better trick yesterday when he pulled a crackerjack pitcher from the minors.

The pitcher who put the Yankees right back into the thick of the American league pennant scrap was Lefty Heimach, and his successful comeback set Connie Mack to gnashing his teeth because Heimach once was discarded by the Athletics. The A's traded him to the Boston Red Sox, whom he held to four hits yesterday in his first start as a Yank. Lefty struck out eight men and retired 15 consecutive batters after the first inning, the Yanks winning 7 to 1.

Sharing the spotlight with Heimach were Howard Ehmke and Al Simmons of the Athletics. Ehmke held the Senators to only three hits and beat them 8 to 3 with the aid of Polish Al, who smacked an important home run with the bases loaded. The Mackmen are still 4½ games behind the Yanks.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who have lost four of their last five starts, now lead the Giants by only four games in the National league scramble. The Pirates hung up their eighth straight win and advanced to within a game and a half of the third-place Cubs when they whipped the Cards yesterday, 5 to 4. The Bucs nicked Haines for three runs in the first inning while Hill and Grimes checked St. Louis after Frisch hit a homer with one on.

Other teams did not play.

How perfect the law is, is revealed by the fact that our highest court may "vote" four to five upon what it means.

Casey To Be Named Coach After Yale-Harvard Game

New York, Aug. 10 — Edward J. Casey is to be appointed head coach of the Harvard university football eleven at the conclusion of the approaching season, according to well authenticated reports from athletics circles at Cambridge. These reports, however, will lack official confirmation from William J. Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard and from others in charge of sport there until after Arnold Horween, the present football coach, has completed the 1928 season.

That Horween was not expected to remain as head coach beyond the end of the present year has been the belief of those conversant with the Harvard football situation for some time and there is apparently universal satisfaction that the mantle once worn by the great Percy D. Haughton is to fall upon the shoulders of Casey, regarded by many as one of the most brilliant backs of the entire Haughton regime at Cambridge.

Horween Disappoints

Horween who succeeded Bob Fisher had only a fair measure of success in 1926 but his work with the Crimson last season was a huge disappointment, for despite the fact that there was a good array of veteran material at hand, Harvard dropped its most important games with Pennsylvania and Yale last fall by discouraging scores and established the unique record of winning only on alternate Saturdays.

Apparently whatever disposition there might have been to wait until after the end of the 1928 season to determine whether or not Horween should continue in charge of the eleven has been set aside because it is said on good authority that virtually all arrangements have been completed whereby Casey is to step into the head coach's shoes as soon as the whistle blows ending the Yale-Harvard game in the Yale bowl this fall.

Has Good Record

Casey has established himself as a successful coach by virtue of his excellent handling of the freshmen eleven at Cambridge and it has been felt that it was only a question of time when he would step out into a more commanding position if Harvard did not decide to keep him and assign him to a position more in keeping with his talents and ability. Evidently, Harvard had no desire to see Casey withdraw, hence his reported naming as Horween's successor.

Before the war when Harvard was riding roughshod over all opponents with Haughton ruling the football world without a challenge, Casey flashed into the picture as perhaps the last string of football celebrities developed and exhibited at the height of their glory by Haughton. Casey followed in the footsteps of Charley Brickley, Tacks Hardwick, and Ned Mahan but his career was cut short by the war.

One of his most spectacular feats, which however yielded nothing, came in the Yale game of 1916 when he broke away for a run of sixty-five yards or more to score a badly needed touchdown. The tally seemingly won the game for the Crimson but Dave Fultz, the old Brown University football and baseball player, who was referee, called the play back for minor infraction of the rules while the crowd howled in derision and Yale triumphed for the first time in seven years. Cupid Black was captain of that Yale eleven and it was the first Eli team coached by Tad Jones.

Quick Thinker

Casey was a backfield star par excellence. He was noted for his quick thinking and his ability on the gridiron. His straight arm was like a steel ram rod and with full development it was expected he would excel even Ned Mahan as a runner through a broken field.

As a coach, Casey has shown himself to be a close student of the game as well as a great tactician. Having played under Haughton when the latter had developed his strategy to its greatest heights it is believed that Casey will serve to revive in Harvard football the true Haughton conception of how the game should be played. Fisher, Horween's immediate predecessor, played when Haughton had just taken over the Crimson situation, while Horween did not appear until after the war. By placing Casey in charge, therefore, it is believed Harvard will return to the system which brought about those notable 36 to 0 and 41 to 0 victories over the Blue in 1914 and 1915, respectively.

One-half of the world can't see how the other half of the world can possibly live without it.

ATHLETIC RELATIONS BETWEEN NEBRASKA AND NOTRE DAME RESUMED

Plans Made for Grid Clash at South Bend in 1930

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 10—The announcement from Lincoln, Nebraska, that football relations between Notre Dame university and the University of Nebraska will be resumed in the fall of 1930 if not earlier was hailed with great satisfaction by both fans and students here.

The announcement was made by Herbert D. Gish, athletic director at the University of Nebraska, acting as spokesman for both himself and Director Knute K. Rockne of Notre Dame.

Because the Irish grid slate for 1929 is full the first game with Nebraska probably will be played on a Saturday early in November, 1930, in the new stadium here which Notre Dame hopes to have by then. The University of Nebraska stadium in Lincoln will be the scene of the second game probably on Thanksgiving day in 1931.

Rockne Pleased

The Husker-Irish peace pact followed an address last week by Coach Rockne before the Hastings, Neb., Chamber of Commerce in which Rockne said he was heartily in favor of a revival of the Nebraska-Notre Dame football classic. Rockne said he "deplored" the fact that "outside influences" had driven the two schools apart in 1925.

Rockne's speech brought the Chamber of Commerce men to their feet with enthusiastic applause.

Within 24 hours of this speech Director Gish of Nebraska University was in Hastings where Rockne was holding a school for coaches at Hastings college. A verbal agreement was soon reached between the two men for a resumption of gridiron relations. Later Director Rockne wired confirmation to Director Gish.

University of Nebraska authorities already have started talking about enlarging the new Nebraska stadium in anticipation of the record crowds that will be attracted by the Nebraska-Notre Dame football games. The stadium now has a capacity of 30,000.

See Record Crowd

Director Gish estimated that if Notre Dame played in Lincoln on Thanksgiving day in 1931, a record crowd of 70,000 persons would see the game. The 1925 battle between the two teams was witnessed by 50,000.

The Nebraska-Notre Dame football contests attracted national attention. The two teams have met 11 times and the honors are even, each school winning 5 games and tying 1.

The Cornhuskers have been the only football warriors who have been able consistently to hold the Irish level in the gridiron game.

The Nebraska-Notre Dame football record follows:

1913, Nebraska	20;	Notre Dame 10.
1916, Nebraska,	0;	Notre Dame 20.
1917, Nebraska	7;	Notre Dame 0.
1918, Nebraska	0;	Notre Dame 0
1919, Nebraska	9;	Notre Dame 14.
1920, Nebraska	7;	Notre Dame 16.
1921, Nebraska	0;	Notre Dame 7.
1922, Nebraska	14;	Notre Dame 6
1923, Nebraska	14;	Notre Dame 7.
1924, Nebraska	7;	Notre Dame 34.

STRATON'S LETTER GOES TO AL SMITH

Clergyman Suggests Madison Square Garden for Pastor-Nominee Debate

New York, Aug. 10—Dr. John Roach Straton's letter to Gov. Al Smith, accepting the latter's challenge to debate the charge made by Dr. Straton last Sunday before his congregation in Calvary Baptist church that the governor was the "deadliest foe today in America of moral progress and true political wisdom," should be received at the governor's office today.

Dr. Straton in his letter continued to maintain his position assailing Governor Smith's record. He insisted that the debate be held in an auditorium larger than Calvary Baptist church, in order to accommodate the large crowd that would wish to hear it.

The clergyman suggested that Madison Square Garden be obtained and that 3,000 seats be apportioned to members of Calvary church, 3,000 to members of St. Patrick's cathedral and the 20000 remaining be divided equally between the Republican and Democratic national committees.

Dr. Straton had told reporters that he would insist that the debate be continued in St. Patrick's cathedral after it had been held in Calvary. However, in his formal letter of acceptance, Dr. Straton did not insist upon this arrangement but did make the suggestion for the division of seats between the two congregations.

It is understood that the suggestion of Dr. Straton for a debate in St. Patrick's cathedral would be rejected by the governor as the cathedral does not permit discussion of secular topics in its pulpit. The governor is insistent upon answering the charges before the same persons who heard them made and also in the same place.

Dr. Straton said in his letter that the debate would be arranged "even if it is to be in Central park" and at the time suggested some time in the week of Sept. 2. He added that he hoped it might be arranged for Sept. 7 or 8.

HEALTH MOVIES AS SCHOOL AID PLANNED

Complete Series of Films for Room Use Will Be Made

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 10—Plans for a complete series of health education films designed specifically for class-room use in public schools have been completed under an agreement by which the Department of Biology and Public Health will cooperate with the Eastman Teaching Films, Inc., in what is said to be the most comprehensive gram of its kind ever attempted.

One of the leading authorities on child education, Dr. C. E Turner, Professor of Biology and Public Health at Technology, will direct the production of the films.

The series of films, Dr. Turner said, will be extensive and complete and will present teaching material in the field of health in much the same way that recent films have contributed to the teaching of geography, civics and other subjects.

Movies Aid Schools

"The motion picture," he said, "has a tremendous contribution to make public education. Its possibilities have been little realized up to the present because very few films have been made specifically for the class room. The type of film adapted for general and adult audiences has little value as a definite tool in education.

"The nature and functions of the body and problems in health control of the environment, all presented with the greatest scientific accuracy and so produced to interest the child, are included in the program of film subjects."

One of the greatest opportunities offered by this method of education, Professor Turner pointed out, is that films present life in motion. The child will be shown those basic facts of physiology and health procedures which are now a part of the best health educations of the country. These will be presented within the scope of his understanding and in a manner which would be impossible without the aid of motion pictures.

Class Room Films

Every film will be prepared for a particular grade level and will definitely recognize the extent and limitations of the health knowledge already acquired by the child. The first productions, it is expected, will be for the use of upper intermediate and junior high schools. When completed the series will present a complete program of health education for public schools.

Special equipment for microscopic motion picture photography is now being installed at Technology. The new work will proceed hand in hand with further developments in the bio-cinema research laboratory established in 1921 for motion picture research and for the production of education films dealing with the nature of bacteria, the disposal of sewage, diphtheria organism, the preparation of antitoxin and other subjects.

Mayor Jimmy Walker Has "It" Enough For Film Star

Hollywood, Aug. 10—Mayor Jimmy Walker, who dresses well enough to be a movie actor, also has "It."

Should the dapper New York burgomaster tire of his chosen profession of politics, he can turn to the art of film acting.

He demonstrated his cinematic capacities here recently when he appeared both in screen and person at the brilliant premiere of "Lilac Time" and almost stole the show from its petite star, Colleen Moore.

The mayor was billed as the guest speaker, but brought a thrill of surprise to the first night audience when he essayed the lead opposite winsome Colleen in an intimate screen kid.

The sparkling subtitles may have been written by a high priced Hollywood title writer but they were so characteristic of the wise-cracking chief citizen of Gotham that the audience was almost confident that Jimmy himself was the author.

Skit With Star

Mayor Walker was a perfect film sophisticate as he sat with Colleen on a sofa and tried to interest her in politics while she tried to vamp him with all of the arts known to a screen siren.

Colleen smiled her most beguiling smile and flashed her languorous eye lashes in approved Cleopatra fashion.

"What's the matter, have you got klieg eyes," her film hero asked, not the least bit annoyed.

The picture was cut, undoubtedly by some zealous censor, just when the plot began to thicken.

Called to the stage, Mayor Walker was introduced in person by Master of Ceremonies Conrad Nagel.

His honor was told that the slogan of the modest movie actor was "be yourself."

"If what I have just seen on the screen is myself," the mayor remarked, "whether I have your permission or not, I am going to change it."

"You may say the direction was good," he added. "But I am convinced that mine is best."

Ahead of Time

Vieing with the stars of moviedom, who still seem to get as much of a kick out of attending premieres as the throngs who lined the sidewalks outside Carthay Circle theater to catch a glimpse of the big parade, Mayor Walker scintillated in his sartorial elegance.

Shouts of "there's Jimmy" were lusty. And with all of the kings and queens of movie row observing their time-honored custom of arriving late for the opening, Mayor Walker, for once, was ahead of time.

He was in his seat at 9:15 p. m. exactly fifteen minutes before "Lilac Time" started its premiere showing.

Therefore, what is more fitting than that Monte, fresh from his triumph in "White Shadows in the South Seas," should be given a railroad yarn. Alfred Howson has written it for him. Anthony Coldewey has prepared it and Howard Bretherton will direct.

"The Greyhound Limited" is all talkie and Monte's first Vitaphone of any consequence.

GRACE VALENTINE knew her onions when she came to Hollywood. What with her stage experience and her youthful appearance she had no trouble at all in breaking right into the movies. She is to play one of the leading roles in "East Side" for Universal. No, it's not the name of the famous brew, but an all talking picture, written especially for the screen by Tom Reed. In passing, it is interesting to note that Leigh Jason, who is keeping pace with his famous wife, Ruth Harriet Louise, the foremost woman photographer in this country, will handle the megaphone. Others in the cast are Jean Hersholt, Walter Long and Mary Nolan.

Any actor who makes the voice grade these days is lucky. The time has actually arrived in Hollywood when voice is one of the requisites. H. B. Warner passed with flying colors over at the Warner Brothers studio. That was to be expected after all his years of stage training.

He played a part in Monte Blue's picture, "Conquest." Now he is to have the leading role in "Stark Madness," a Warner Brothers talkie. H. B., they tell me, has a voice that synchronizes gracefully and easily with the mechanisms of these fantastic talkies.

"Singapore Mutiny" threatens to become a pretentious talkie. While Ralph Ince was filming it he did not think that his picture would be so important, but after it was finished it looked so good to the F. B. O. officials that they decided to synchronize it. Mr. Ince is now on his way to New York, where he will add the necessary sound.

Estelle Taylor, who plays the lead, is in the big town starting rehearsals for the David Belasco stage play and, since the mountain cannot go to Mahommet, Mahommet must go to the mountain, if you know what I mean. While Ralph is in New York he will see his wife, Lucile Mendez, who has been there for some weeks.

I thought Kathryn Carver Menjou had that stylish new bob for some good reason. Only a movie job could have coaxed her to part with her long light hair. Her movie job is with Corinne Griffith in "Outcast" and she starts work immediately. Katheryn said when she married Adolphe Menjou her career was not ending, and she was eager to make pictures. The entire cast for theie picture is bieng carefully rounded up. Huntly Gordon and Edmund Lowe are the other members of the cast already chosen.

79-YEAR-OLD WOMAN WINS DIVORCE CASE

St. Clemens, Mich.—A 79-year-old blind woman has been declared winner in a divorce suit which has been contested bitterly in Circuit Court for the last six months.

An absolute decree was granted to Mrs. Matty J. Mott, of Utica, the defendant in a suit brought by her husband, Frank Mott, Utica business man. Mrs. Mott two years ago accused W. H. Schoefield of attempting to kill her and accused her husband of conspiracy. It was on this grounds Mott sued for divorce, charging cruelty.

Schoefield was acquitted of the charge. Mott was never tried.

ENGLAND GIVES PRIZE TO AMERICAN INVENTOR

London—A rifle invented by an American has gained the British government's $15,000 award for the best automatic self-loading rifle.

Basically designed by General John Thompson, the small arms expert of the U. S. Army, the weapon has been manufactured and perfected by the Birmingham Small Arms Company, noted small armaments firm.

The weapon is simple in construction and with it the ordinary British soldier will be able to shoot twice as many shots as he can now with the hand operated rifle, or about 35 shots per minute.

It is claimed by the British War Office that this weapon, backed up by the modern machine gun, would be sufficient for any army to meet almost any requirement of modern battle tactics.

REPORT HEAT ADDS TO DEATHS IN JULY

Weather Contributes to Demise of Aged Persons, Record Indicates

July's record of vital statistics in the city of Marion showed a decrease of three deaths and an increase of three births in comparison with the June totals according to the monthly report of Mrs. Mary Ellen Kerr, city registrar, issued at the health department office today.

Births during July totaled 53, and included 29 boys and 24 girls, while the births in June numbered 50, divided into 27 girls and 23 boys. There were 29 deaths in July, compared to 32 the preceding month.

The intense heat at periods during July contributed largely to the death rate, physicians say. Due to the effect of the heat on old persons, five deaths from senility, or the effects of old age, occurred during the month. There were also two deaths from exhaustion, two from influenza and two each from arterio sclerosis, organic heart disease and inanition.

One death from accident occurred during the month when Conrad Nickel died on July 21 as the result of injuries received in a fall. There was one death each from peritonitis, uremic poisoning, obstruction of the bowels, abscess of the stomach, pneumonia, diabetes, aititral insufficiency, auto intoxication, tonsilitis, still-born, valvular insufficiency and cancer.

Ritzy Rosalie

PENELOPE is leaving for a short trip, and Rosalie is consulting the time-table to make sure she gets her friend on the right train. Penelope's new luggage is getting an initiation on this trip; and she is obviously proud of it, as well she may be. It is of striking modernistic design, finished in black and gray leather. The design is not external only, but is carried out on the inside in the shirred linings and triangular pockets. Another feature of the suitcase is the cretonne case with a piece of cardboard inside against which the clothing is bound, preventing wrinkling and sliding when the case is on end.

BERLIN DOCTORS USE TO STUDY BEATS OF HEART

Berlin—The seismograph, which registers earthquakes, is now being employed by Berlin physicians to register and record the heartbeats of human beings, making possible an easy and accurate diagnosis of any heart disease.

Experiments made at the Geodetic Institute at Potsdam proved a complete success.

The patient was simply placed on a table with the seismograph, the heartbeats communicated themselves to the table, were caught by the seismograph and record on a second apparatus on an adjoining table.

Only two weeks!
–but how the good news spread

How quickly the story got around. Today we heard these comments everywhere, for one woman was quick to tell another. "Marion has a new loaf of bread—and so good you'll love it! If you want to taste a richer flavor in bread, get a loaf now. It's new today."

Yes, it's true. The New Bamby Bread has taken Marion by storm. The news of its goodness has reached every corner. Leave it to the women of Marion to know what they want and not waste any time getting it!

Why this enthusiastic reception? Simply because in its new attractive shape—12 inches long—and in its rich goodness which comes from using plenty of milk, the New Bamby Bread has filled exactly the needs of Marion housewives.

Tomorrow, ask your grocer for a loaf of the New Bamby Bread. Test it for flavor or freshness or perfect baking. Then decide for yourself, whether you have ever tasted a better bread. That's an easy way and a safe way to become acquainted with the New Bamby Bread.

CAPT. SHANKS GETS TEMPORARY LEAVE

Naval Recruiting Officer Here Goes to Hospital; Substitute Now on Duty

Chief Turret Capt. John B Shanks, head of the local naval recruiting station, was relieved from duty in this district today by William R. Leonard, signalman from the Cincinnati district. Leonard will be detailed here for temporary duty until the return of Shanks from the naval hospital, where he will be sent for treatment.

Recruiting will continue as in the past in the American Legion dugout on South High st.

Harold W. Barnett, who has been working in this city since he was discharged, was re-enlisted in the navy at the local station today. He was transferred to Cincinnati and will be sent to the receiving ship at Philadelphia for duty.

There still are some vacancies in the August quota and Leonard announces he will be glad to tell of the opportunities that are offered by an enlistment in the naval service.

Chrysler Substituted For General Motors As Favorite Stock

EARLY GAINS WIPED OUT IN SPECIALTIES

Speculators Fear Shortage in Money Market; Little Buying

C. M. C. DROPS FIVE

Sharp Break in Grain Centers Sends Wheat to New Low Level

Markets at a Glance

Industrial stocks irregular, railroad stocks irregular, domestic bonds steady, foreign bonds inactive, call money seven to eight per cent, cotton firm, grain weak, rubber steady, sugar steady, oil firm, pig iron steady, foreign exchange irregular.

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor

New York, Aug. 10—There was little incentive to buy stocks of the American railroad and industrial corporations today outside the necessary covering of shorts, which required only a small portion of the first hour. The motor and specialty stocks spurted when the orders crowded the market in the forenoon but the fear of a money shortage was too great a hurdle for the bulk of speculative stocks and most of the early gains were wiped out.

From the stock market standpoint, the most important incident of the day was the apparent substitution of Chrysler motors for General Motors as the popular speculative investment stock to lead the rise in the motor division of the market. Simultaneous selling of General Motors and aggressive buying of Chrysler resulted in a new decline in the former stock to more than five points from its opening price of 187, while Chrysler climbed 5½ points to above 90, making a "spread" of 10 points between the two stocks for the period.

General Motors was freely supplied to the market on what appeared to be large-scale liquidation of important holdings of the stock. Whether from the failure of the directors to declare more than the regular dividend on the common stock, or fear of costly dissensions in the motors official family it is difficult to say, but General Motors was one of the outstanding weak spots while Chrysler performed spectacularly for the bulls.

A sharp break in wheat in Chicago and other grain centers, which carried prices to the lowest levels of recent years, was a disturbing factor of the early afternoon. Corn lost 2½ cents and wheat 4½ cents a bushel as selling orders swept into the grain pit, and "stops" increased the velocity of the downward movement.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Sweet corn reached the lowest price of the season here today when dealers were offering golden bantam at 20 cents a dozen, a drop of 10 cents under the price of yesterday. The hot sun of the last few days has ripened the corn rapdily and today found the markets carrying large supplies with buying slightly below normal.

Buying in both fruits and vegetables is reported as light, although vegetable markets have suffered more than fruits in the decline. The continued hot weather, dealers were reporting today, has reduced buying to a minimum. Carrots were cheaper today, dealers offering two bunches for five cents. Sweet potatoes were also cheaper, good quality selling as low as five cents a pound.

Blackberries were more plentiful today although the price continues to hold at 18 cents a quart or two quarts for 35 cents. Berries are moving slowly, dealers say, the hot weather having a discouraging effect of canning. Watermelons were being quoted at 50 cents today, an advance of five cents over the price of yesterday. Dealers were carrying large supplies of Georgia peaches selling at from $1.50 to $2.25 a bushel. Although the quality of the fruit is good and the price low, buying is sluggish, according to dealers. Cantaloupes continue plentiful and dealers report a steady demand at 10 and 15 cents. Honeydew melons are moving slower, although small melons are selling as low as 10 cents.

Homegrown potatoes were being quoted today at from 20 to 28 cents a peck. The supply is fairly large and dealers report a slow increase in demand. Cabbage continues to sell at five cents.

New Potatoes, 20 to 28c pk.

SOCIALISTS TO HAVE TICKET IN CAROLINA

Party To Put Candidate in Southern State Field

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. —The Socialist Party plans to enter North Carolina to put candidates in the field this fall, it was learned here.

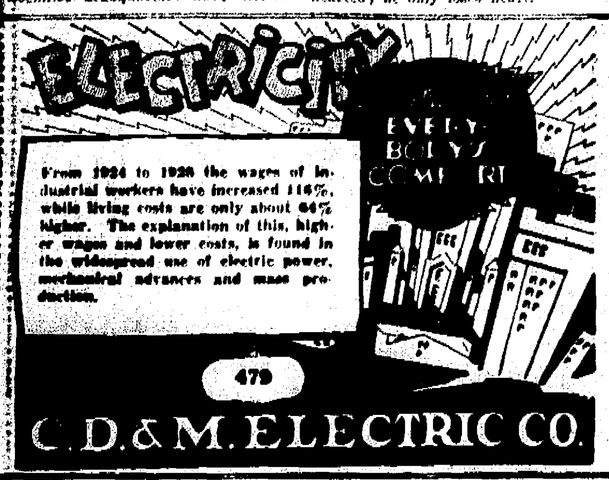
Socialist headquarters have written the State Board of Elections regarding their ballots printed in North Carolina.

Previously they had been informed that it was too late for the state to print their tickets on the ballots, but that the party itself could print the ballots if they wished.

It was believed here that the part would confine its North Carolina activities to contests in congressional districts and the presidential race.

Why is there always so much bravery displayed after the danger is past?

A tramp dog doesn't become hardhearted; he only loses heart.



From 1924 to 1928 the wages of industrial workers have increased 14%, while living costs are only about 6% higher. The explanation of this, higher wages and lower costs, is found in the widespread use of electric power, mechanical advances and mass production.

Mr. C. T. Hill, Mgr.

Beaumont, Texas
Dear Hill:
I just want to let you know that Bro. Biggers has
I think our electric refrigerator about the finest piece of equipment we have in our home. Bro. Biggers has mentioned several times that if she could not get another one would not take a thousand dollars for it. It saves her a great deal of time and work. It keeps food perfectly, while we are gone on week-end trips, and last summer we found milk sweet on our return from a ten-day trip.
We have had this refrigerator for four years, and we have had only one service call—a one dollar charge for adjusting motor on the beam.
I can sure recommend electric refrigeration for you. Just call on me any time.
Sincerely yours,

MUSIC FEATURES KIWANIS PROGRAM

Mrs. A. H. Koons and Daughter Contribute Selections at Weekly Club Meeting

A group of accordion and saxophone numbers by Mrs. A. H. Koons and her daughter Jane provided a pleasing program at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club held at the Hotel Harding yesterday. Both Mrs. Koons and her daughter are accomplished musicians.

Three solo numbers on the accordion were given by Mrs. Koons. The group included "Melody in F" by Rubinstein, a group of southern melodies and "Ramona." In two numbers, "O Sole Mio" and "My Wild Irish Rose," she was accompanied by her daughter on the saxophone.

G. Farr Earle, president of the club, who has been confined to his home the last several months with an attack of rheumatism and nervous trouble, was able to preside at the luncheon yesterday for the first time in several months.

A move to back Dr. J. W. McMurray, a member of the local club, as lieutenant governor of this club district, was launched at the luncheon yesterday and a committee composed of A. W. Kette, George Whsall, W. J. Locke and A. A. VanAtta, was appointed to have charge of the campaign. The election of the lieutenant governor will take place at the state meeting to be held in Cleveland on Oct. 1, 2 and 3.

PREPARE BUILDINGS FOR SCHOOL YEAR

Redecoration and Repairs Made This Summer Now Near Completion

Usual summer work of redecorating and repairing the interior of Marion public school buildings for reopening Sept. 10, is nearing completion.

AUSTRIA HAS DOCTOR FOR EACH 900 PERSONS

Vienna—Austria counts one doctor for every nine hundred persons, that is 7,300 for a total of 6,500,000 inhabitants, entirely too many for a poor little country, according to the press.

The neighboring country, Czechoslovakia, which is much more prosperous, has only one doctor for twice as many persons.

CIVIL SERVICE TO BE DEBATE TOPIC

Defeat of Legislation Gives Subject Place on War Veteran's Program

Kansas City, Aug. 10—Recent defeat of legislation destined to secure preference for veterans seeking civil service positions is scheduled for heated debate the 29th national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. to be held at Indianapolis, August 26 to 31.

"There is a likelihood that forces of the V. F. W. will be marshalled behind the bill presented by Congressman U. S. Guyer of Kansas for a new campaign when congress re-convenes next December," declared Adjutant General H. B. Handy, Jr., at national headquarters here today.

Veto of the Fish bill, after being passed by both the House and Senate, came a sore disappointment to champions of the measure during the last session of congress.

President Coolidge followed up his veto of the Fish bill with appointment of a special committee to investigate and make recommendations concerning veterans' preference in civil service positions. The committee, of which Congressman Fish is chairman, is scheduled to hear recommendations from the various veteran organizations for presentation to the next session of congress.

In the recommendations submitted by Edwin S. Bettelheim, chairman of the national legislative committee of the V. F. W., eight points are being stressed, urging congress to enact legislation similar to the Fish bill as amplified by the Guyer measure.

Kirkpatrick, Aug. 10—The M. E. Ladies' Aid society held its regular meeting in the church basement, Wednesday. The day was spent in quilting and sewing rags. Twelve members were present.

KONJOLA WAS MEDICINE I HAD ALWAYS NEEDED

Says Another Lady; Free of Stomach Trouble She Suffered for Twenty Years

MRS. IRMA ZILE

"Konjola has made a wonderful change in my condition after twenty years of suffering from stomach trouble and I strongly recommend it to others," said Mrs. Irma Zile, 148 South Irwin St., Dayton, Ohio.

"I was troubled with constipation and every meal I ate brought on intense misery. I had awful gas pains and bloating spells. My hands and feet were subject to numbness and I felt like I was paralyzed. I also had terrific headaches and dizzy spells so that I could hardly stand up.

"I started with Konjola and before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that the gas pains and bloating spells were gone. As I continued with this medicine the headaches and dizzy spells left me and my hands and feet finally became normal. Now I feel as though I have never had a sick day in my life."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly endorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

Nine Drys Back Begg

Nine Ohio dry leaders issued a joint ...urging dry Republicans of the Buckeye state to vote for Begg ...Tuesday. The statement was ...E. R. Root, Medina; former Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, Cambridge; Mrs. Lillian Burt, Columbus; ...W. V. Aldrich, Delaware; Lester ...Hill, Bowling Green; Rev. Paul T. ...Bowling Green; W. J. Daugherty of the University of Akron; ...Sherwood, Fremont, and Mrs. ...Hester, Norwalk, superintendent of the Purity League of the Christian Endeavor, also a member of the W. C. T. U., it was announced.

Crabbe, a former state representative, is the author of Ohio's dry laws, known as the Crabbe act.

The statement asserted that, due to the recent action of Ohio Anti-Saloon league officials in endorsing Cooper's candidacy and failing to approve that of Begg, "a grave situation" faces Ohio voters.

Former Lieut. Gov. Charles H. Lewis Harpster, and President William F. Pierce, Kenyon college, it was stated, endorsed Begg's candidacy.

Witter Endorses Smith

Addressing a picnic and rally conducted under the auspices of the Franklin County Democratic Women's club, Glenn R. Witter, Canton, state director of industrial relations, and a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, endorsed the policies of Gov. Vic Donahey and said he was "a Smith man."

Director of Agriculture Charles V. Truax, a candidate for U. S. senator, favored improvement of agricultural conditions on a nation-wide basis. George White, Marietta, also an aspirant for the U. S. senatorship, characterized Gov. Al Smith as the "outstanding statesman of his time." Attorney Graham P. Hunt, Cincinnati, seeking the senatorial toga, accused the Anti-Saloon league and the Republican party with conspiring to "cheat Ohio out of proper representation in congress."

Commerce Director Earl Bloom, Bowling Green, former lieutenant governor, questioned the promise of Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, to save $75,000,000 in taxes if elected governor of Ohio. "If he can show me how he can save $50,000 in taxes, I will vote for him myself," said Bloom, who also is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. Replying to Bloom, Davey said the next governor would be a Democrat and that he would have the support of a Democratic state legislature.

Peter Witt, Cleveland, seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said Ohio will not go Democratic this fall unless the gubernatorial candidate nominated next Tuesday by the Democrats of Ohio is in sympathy with Al Smith. Witt said he is "a Smith man."

"BUSINESS GOOD" FACTORIES REPORT

roll represents an increase of approximately 10 per cent over a year ago, according to Knecht. Present production of the plant is said to be abut 15 per cent greater than a year ago.

Although the American Malleable Casting Co. is at present passing through an off season C. F. LaMarche, vice president, expects business for the plant to record the usual pickup by early September. July and August, according to Mr. LaMarche, are generally slow for the casting company.

Operation Fluctuates

Since all work of the plant is special orders, the working force necessarily fluctuates with business conditions, Mr. LaMarche said. The company at present is employing about 75 men. Mr. LaMarche expects the September pickup to carry through the remainder of the year.

The Fairfield Engineering Co. is working at full capacity, according to the statement of H. B. Walker, president. The present production of the plant shows an increase of approximately 20 per cent over a year ago, Mr. Walker said.

For the present at least, Mr. Walker expects business to hold up. There may be a decrease in production after the next three or four months, he said, as the winter is usually an off season for the plant.

Gardner Plant Busy

The Gardner Tap & Die Co. plant is "very busy," according to the statement of J. M. Gardner, president and general manager. The 60 men of the payroll at present represent an increase of approximately 50 percent within the last three months. The force has been increased gradually.

Since the tap and die plant began working into a higher class of business there has not been the need for as great a number of men as was formerly employed. The plant at present is about 60 days behind with its orders.

The Wilson Bohannan Lock Co. is also working at capacity and is employing between 40 and 50 men, according to W. B. Tway, president and treasurer. The force is being increased gradually as orders continue to come in increasing numbers.

The Marion Steel Body Co., with 25 men on the payroll has made a slight increase in its force within recent months. E. H. Fishmer, president, says that the plant has been working at capacity since early spring. There are plenty of orders to keep the plant working on the present basis, he said.

The 2,000 men now on the Marion Steam Shovel Co. payroll brings the total within 200 of the number employed during the World war, when production reached a new peak.

BRENNAN IS BURIED AS SMITH LOOKS ON

New York Governor in Chicago for Funeral of Democratic Leader

Chicago, Aug. 10—In a tree-shaded church within sight of the green waters of Lake Michigan, Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York said goodbye today to an old friend.

His head bowed and his eyes filled with tears, the Democratic nominee for president attended funeral services for George E. Brennan, veteran Illinois Democratic leader, at Our Lady of Mount Carmel church. With the widow, and her daughter, Mary, the executive knelt at solemn requiem high mass beside his political ally's bier, shrouded in a blanket of roses and lilies.

It was the second funeral the Democratic candidate had attended far from the executive mansion at Albany, since his nomination at Houston less than two months ago. The first was that of the 19-year-old son of John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National committee who was killed in an automobile accident in Maryland.

The governor, who arrived in Chicago at 10:30 o'clock this morning from New York, went directly from the station to the modest Brennan home, where he attended private services for the Illinois Democratic chief. From the home he was whisked under heavy guard to the church, a few blocks away. He planned to return immediately to the east this afternoon.

A great many men will not tell the truth about their salaries and it is too much to ask them to.

Northern Ohio Swept By Cloudburst and Electrical Storm; Train is Derailed

Farmer Killed Near Alliance When Struck by Lightning; Property Damage Heavy in Stark County; Several Houses Burned

Canton, Aug. 10—One dead, a half-dozen injured, a passenger train derailed, and heavy property damage were the results today of a severe electrical storm and cloudburst which lashed northern Ohio, centering in Stark county, last night.

The body of William Herman, 15, was found in a field on his parents' farm near Alliance, last night. He had been struck by lightning.

A Pennsylvania passenger train was derailed near Alliance, the engine and two cars overturning, while four other coaches remained upright. Frank Glasser, engineer, J. C. Jenkins, fireman, both of New Castle, Pa., and two passengers, Mrs. Mollie Moore and E. J. Phelan, both of Youngstown, were injured. All were treated at City hospital, Alliance, and are expected to recover. Many other passengers were shaken up.

Several sections of Pennsylvania track and of the Stark Electric Co. are under water. E. J. Phelan, a motorman on a Stark trolley car, was badly shocked when a high tension wire was blown down late yesterday, crashing through a line booth from which he was telephoning a report. He is recovering.

Transportation and telephone facilities were being repaired today. The storm was reported particularly severe at Hartsville. This was the third heavy storm to hit Stark county in the last three weeks. Last night's is said to have been the most severe in years.

Several houses were reported ignited by lightning in rural sections, the fires subsequently extinguished by the heavy rain. A barn was hit and burned near Alliance.

Other northern Ohio sections also reported heavy storms last night. Three homes were damaged in Akron. In Toledo, a woman was reported injured.

MARION HAS HUGE ICE CREAM OUTPUT

170,000 Gallons Made in Four Months Would Make 937-Mile Line of Cones

cream produced in Marion during the four months of the heated season were put into five-gallon cans, the cans would number 34,000.

The intersection of Center and Main sts. measures about 60 feet each way, and each can is eight inches across. Packed solidly in cone shape on this uptown square, these 34,000 cans would stack up in the air almost three times as high as the courthouse. Some sight for the few persons who say they don't like ice cream.

Millions of Cones

Local manufacturers differ by a few cones on the question of how many cones are sold from every gallon of ice cream. Seventy was reached as a compromise. This done, it figures that if all of the 170,000 gallons of Marion's summer ice cream output were made up into cones, there would be 11,900,000 cones filled.

Let's proceed. Each cone measures about five inches in length, making a total of 59,500,000 inches of ice cream cones. Reduced to feet, the total is 4,950,833 and a fraction.

And in miles! It seems unbelievable, but this array of Marion-made cones would measure over 937 miles.

No attempt was made to figure out how long it would take the average American boy to do an ice cream marathon and get on the outside of that amount of cone mileage.

Dishing It Up

These 170,000 gallons, dished up from bulk ice cream, would make a line of 4,080,000 dishes, or enough to serve almost two-thirds of the population of Ohio. A quart brick of ice cream will serve eight generous helpings. A gallon will serve 32 persons, which means that Marion's 170,000 gallons would be sufficient for 5,440,000 customers.

It would be interesting to know who first thought of this delicious antidote for summer heat. Away back in 1756, according to ice cream history, some enterprising Italian out looking for business made the first gallon, quart, pint, or whatever it may have been.

Although ice cream was first made in Italy, it has never sold there to the great extent that it has in this country.

Beginning in U. S.

Dolly Madison, wife of the fourth president of the United States, is generally credited with introducing this tempting dish into this country. It is said that as hostess at a state dinner given at the White House in 1809 she first served it, and that the guests were enthusiastic over her discovery.

Of all the flavors made, vanilla leads by a large percentage, with chocolate and strawberry next, in the order named, local dealers say. Chocolate-flavored ice cream has gained considerably in popularity in the last few years, and is leading the strawberry flavor by a wide margin.

If all this ice cream that has caused this tumult of figures and "ifs" were eaten in Marion, the doctors would be put through a strenuous period of thinking up new ways to reduce, but as it is, just part is sold here, the rest being shipped to smaller towns and stations.

NINE INJURED IN MISHAPS NEAR HERE

Miss Avonelle Strigg, of Delaware, Seriously Hurt in Ashley Collision

Nine persons were injured, one of them seriously, in auto accidents occurring in the vicinity of Marion, late Wednesday and yesterday.

The nine persons were injured in four accidents, resulting from a collision.

Miss Avonelle Strigg, of Delaware, was the most seriously injured in the four accidents. She is reported recovering in Jane Case hospital, at Delaware, from injuries she sustained to her head and face in a collision near Ashley, last night.

Other persons injured were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Kipp, of Mansfield; Mr. and Mrs. George Ash and Mr and Mrs. L. G. Ranger of Carey; Walter Oats, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Oats, of north of Kenton, and Mrs. R. D. Hitty, of Dallas, Tex.

Cars Sideswiped

Mr. and Mrs. Kipp sustained their injuries along with Miss Strigg on the state road, north of Ashley, when the Chandler sedan in which they were riding was sideswiped by a Studebaker touring car driven by Charles Redmon, of Uncapher av, Marion. The Studebaker was being driven south and the Chandler north on the road when the accident occurred. Both cars were thrown into the ditch by the impact.

Mrs. Kipp sustained only minor injuries when she was thrown from the car. Mr. Kipp received several bruises on his chest.

The Carey residents were injured when the Willys-Knight sedan in which they were riding turned over into a ditch near Carey, Wednesday. All escaped with minor injuries. The machine was totally wrecked.

Mrs. Hitty sustained several cuts about the face from broken glass in an accident west of Carey, Wednesday afternoon. In order to avoid a head-on collision with a car driven by Mrs. Allan Powell, of Carey, the driver of the Reo sedan in which Mrs. Hitty was riding, ran into the ditch.

Mrs. Powell is said to have put her hand out of the car to wave at a friend and the driver of the Reo believed she signalled for a turn at a cross road. Other persons in the car were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Garn and family, of Toledo. They were on their way to Carey to visit friends when the accident occurred.

Falling from the side of an automobile driven by his mother, Mrs. Emanuel Oats, Walter Oats sustained injuries which held him unconscious for several hours. He was reported as recovering today.

The lad had climbed from the rear seat of the car in which his parents were going to Kenton, and was standing on the running board when he lost his hold.

HELEN WILLS WINS

Reaches Final Round of Annual Tennis Tourney

Maidstone Country Club, Easthampton, L. I., Aug. 10—Miss Helen Wills of Berkeley, Calif., No. 1 ranking player, reached the final round today—when she defeated Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass., at the annual women's lawn tennis tournament of Maidstone County club. The score was 6-1, 6-1.

A heavy shower just before the contest made the court soggy and sand was spread to prevent slipping. The match was played under threatening skies. These conditions did not prevent the gallery from crowding the clubhouse stands.

LINDY PLEADS FOR MORE GOOD AIRPORTS

Spends Night in Columbus in Interest of New Air-Rail Lines

Columbus, Aug. 10—After looking over prospective sites for a landing field for the local terminal of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., lines, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, hopped off at 10:5 7a. m. today for an unannounced destination.

Lindbergh headed his plane southwest and it was reported he might be headed for Wichita Kas., the western terminal of the Transcontinental lines.

The "Lone Eagle," who is consulting engineer for the combination airplane-train lines, arrived late yesterday and spent the night with friends. He could not say when the service will be inaugurated.

Lindbergh pleaded with reporters to keep his proceeding "out of the air," and emphasized interest in the ground lines already started.

Passengers from New York or Philadelphia would arrive here by train and be taken to Glenn L. Martin's airplane factory at Cleveland, where they would board the planes for the flight to Wichita, Kas., from where they would travel by train to the Pacific coast.

Mother of Three Young Children Passes Away Following Operation

POLICE LINK HOPPE TO CROY MYSTERY

First Tangible Bit of Evidence in Possession of Authorities

Toledo, Aug. 10—Although Charles (Stanley) Hoppe, under sentence of death for the brutal murder of seven-year-old Dorothy Sielagowski, has confessed that he killed Miss Lily Dale Croy, Toledo teacher, whose death two years ago was an unsolved mystery on police records, the first tangible bit of evidence connecting Hoppe with the crime a fountain pen said to have belonged to the slain teacher, was in possession of the police today.

Hoppe's first confession to the killing of Miss Croy was received with considerable skepticism, as at the time his attorneys contended he was "mentally incompetent" and should be confined to an institution where he would not be a social menace instead of expiating his crimes in the electric chair.

The identification of the fountain pen by Miss Croy's mother yesterday, however, and additional details Hoppe related to three common pleas judges lent credence to his confession. Authorities are checking up old records in the case in the hope that Hoppe's connection with the Croy murder either will be definitely established or discarded.

ADD 50 TO TRAFFIC VIOLATION REPORT

Autoists Registered in Local Stop Street Campaign Now Near 550

With the addition of 50 automobile license numbers secured by the police at traffic stop points on Columbia st., yesterday, the number of motorists who will be ordered to appear before Municipal Judge W. R. Martin on next Wednesday to explain why they failed to observe the stop signs, has increased to nearly 550.

Next Wednesday has been fixed as the day for the hearing of the cases, and it is the hope of Judge Martin that the entire number can be disposed of in the one day. Hearings of those who plead not guilty will be assigned so that they can be disposed as rapidly as possible while no more time than necessary will be spent on those who plead guilty.

The campaign being waged by the police against the motorist who fails to observe the stop signs at street intersections is the result of a stand taken by Safety Director Strayer and Chief of Police Thompson that sufficient time has elapsed to enable every motorist to become acquainted with the ruling of council and that the ordinance should be enforced. A check made by the police several days ago when out of 2,200 cars which crossed one intersection, only 1,600 observed the stop sign, impressed the chief with the need of clamping down the lid on traffic violations.

CARRIES CASH

Local Milk Man Removes $1 Bill from Mouth of Stray Dog

A. H. FRANKLIN, 791 Nelson st., who operates a milk route in the north part of the city, has in his possession a $1 bill belonging to some resident of that locality who also owns a small black and white dog.

Franklin reports that while distributing milk on North State st. early this morning he noticed the dog, with a piece of paper in its mouth, playing around the wagon. Franklin called the animal and took the paper, which proved to be a $1 bill in good condition.

After delivering the wagon a short distance, the dog disappeared Franklin said.

First Eagle Scouts From Marion to Receive Badges in Closing Camp Program

Four Will Receive Awards at Court of Honor Session Tonight; Rank Is Highest Obtainable in Boy Scout Activities; Details for Ceremony Completed

When the final period at Camp John A. Owens of the Harding Area Council closes tonight, Marion will have its first Boy Scouts who have reached the highest rank in scoutdom—that of Eagle scout.

Formal presentation of the Eagle badge to four scouts will be made tonight at the session of the Harding Area Court of Honor, of which attorney John H. Clark is chairman. Those who have qualified for this honor are Robert Bush, Troop No. 6; Harry Dorsey, Troop No. 1; Herman Bhu, Troop No. 1; John Sloan, Troop No 1.

As well as being the highest, the rank of Eagle Scout is the most difficult to attain, requiring a thorough knowledge of scoutcraft. Before becoming an Eagle scout, the boy must have a record of satisfactory service as a First Class scout for a period of at least one full year.

21 Merit Badges

He shall have qualified for 21 merit badges, which shall include first aid, life saving, personal health, public health, cooking, camping, civics, bird study, pathfinding, pioneering, athletics or physical development.

According to Scout Executive W. C. Brown, every Eagle scout must be proficient in all ways in the requirements. Special emphasis, he said, is placed on first aid and life saving. Complete demonstrations of both must be made before Mr. Brown before merit badges are granted.

Scouting has been in existence in Marion for 10 years, Executive Brown stated, and during that time not a single scout has reached this high rank. A majority of the scouts stop at second class with a number reaching first class.

Closing Program

Presentation of the Eagle badges will come as a part of the closing ceremonies at Camp Owens. The program will be opened when the stone memorial to Scout John A. Owens will be unveiled. This will be followed by a concert by the Mt. Gilead Boy Scout band.

The Court of Honor will then award tenderfoot, second class, first class and merit badges to scouts. Campers' monograms will also be presented. Scouts will also be initiated into the council ring and be presented with ashes from the fire.

Songs by scouts will complete the program. The unveiling of the monument will start at 7:30 o'clock.

TUNNEY WILL FIGHT FOR SOCIETY BERTH

James Joseph Expected To Land Among Four Hundred Within Two Years

South Bristol, Me., Aug. 10—Standing squarely by his statement that he was through with the public and that the public must let him alone, Gene Tunney, with a new battle on his hands, continued in seclusion today on John's Island, the summer estate of his fiancee, Miss Mary Josephine Rowland "Polly" Lauder.

Tunney's new battle is to win a place in the ranks of New York's Four Hundred. To do this his name must appear in the social register.

Tunney, born of parents who emigrated to this country from England and Ireland and himself a former New York shipping clerk, has already been accepted in society. His friends today predicted that the name of James Joseph Tunney would be in the social register within two years. The young heiress, whom the world's heavyweight champion is to marry, has been listed in the register for years as have the names of other members of the Lauder family.

The nominee expects to visit his running-mate, Senator Charles Curtis, at Topeka, Kans., Monday, Aug. 20.

After a day spent talking over campaign matters with Curtis, Hoover will go to his birthplace in West Branch, Ia., passing through Kansas City enroute. Following a day in West Branch, with a farm speech in the evening, Hoover will spend two days in Cedar Rapids, Ia., visiting with farm leaders. From there, he will go direct to Washington.

Hoover had a quiet birthday in prospect. He invited Hubert Work, the new Republican national chairman, to spend the day with him and he asked Senator George H. Moses to have luncheon with him. A crowd of his old friends from Stanford university were expected to drop in on him during the day. Tonight he will be the guest of honor at a birthday party to be given him by the newspaper correspondents and photographers who accompanied him from Washington.

A Cheering Announcement.

The announcement made in our news columns, several days ago, to the effect that the Marion Steam Shovel company had increased its force and is now employing between 1,900 and 2,000 men in consequence of the fact that the volume of orders on hand for future delivery was the largest in the history of the corporation was most pleasing, especially so in connection with the further statement that the orders on hand would keep the plant active on a substantial working basis well into the coming year.

The stock of the company is not controlled here is it once was and necessarily there is not the volume of dividends distributed here which was the rule in the past. As a result the benefit reaped from the returns to employers is of relatively greater importance than it once was. Thus the more men employed and the higher this return the more money will go into local trade and local financial institutions.

Such are the financial connections of the present management that the newly-established record of orders should not long survive. We do not mean by this that orders should dwindle, but rather that they should increase. With prosperous industrial and commercial conditions throughout the land, it is hard to understand why the business of the company should not be measurably augmented. With prosperous conditions obtaining, there should be increased demand for such products as the company manufactures, and as its products are of established worth and reputation, the company and the community alike should prosper materially as a result of the increased demand.

Unfavorable or Favorable?

The recent publication of the news story relating to the annual report of the county auditor, which showed that the total of the mortgages on realty filed during the year ended June 30 exceeded the total of the mortgages canceled during the same period by a trifle over $1,000,000, has been the subject of some discussion. It has been contended that the showing made during the year was a bad one, while there has been the counter contention that the figures presented might be taken to indicate revived activity in real estate.

The trouble with all such reports is that they mean little unless they are carefully analyzed and followed up. This, of course, is out of all question. The county recorder has neither the time nor the clerical force to engage in any such undertaking, and would be compelled to proceed with it without remuneration if he had.

If the $1,000,000 excess of new mortgage indebtedness filed indicated that the mortgagees had fallen behind in their interest payment and had executed new mortgages to cover both the principal of their loans and the interest payments they had, for one reason or another, been unable to meet, the showing could not be held to be a good one. Again, if it were demonstrated that the $1,000,000 increase in mortgage indebtedness on realty represented the further pledging of lots and lands to that extent that the money arising therefrom might be foolishly expended, that would indicate an unfortunate condition of affairs.

But if analysis of the figures showed that the excess of mortgages given over mortgages canceled was the result of real estate investment, if the analysis showed that purchase price mortgages and mortgages given looking to material improvements on properties made up the bulk of the million-dollar excess, then the showing would be a decidedly favorable one.

The new mortgages executed on city and village lots and lands had a face value of $3,718,241.68, while the mortgages canceled on the same classes of realty aggregated $2,988,809.92, thus of the total of new mortgage indebtedness incurred, $759,431.76 was on city and village lots and land. True, it is possible that this new indebtedness was entered into for investments which do not speak for permanency. It may have gone for automobiles, for radioes, for talking machines, or have been deliberately squandered, but in view of the new properties purchased in this city, in view of the new buildings erected here and in view of the improvements made in properties in this city and the villages of the county, the indications are that at least three-fourths of the million-dollar increased indebtedness generally went into lasting investments, in which event the showing made by the recorder's report is a very favorable one, much as it may appear to the contrary upon its face.

At times we are inclined to believe that the weatherman gives us a short spell of moderately warm weather each season that we may better appreciate the ideal summer resort weather which is normally ours up here in the very heart of the garden spot of the world.

Cotton soared eight dollars a bale on the New York stock exchange, Wednesday, which recalls how we patriots were called upon, something like ten years ago, to save the South by complying with the urge to "buy a bale."

Ambulances and Noise.

Ambulances are naturally associated in the public mind with injury and sickness. Necessarily, when answering a call to move the sick or injured, there is usually a demand for speed and the use of clanging bell or ear-splitting siren to clear the roadway the ambulance is taking is justified. Under such circumstances, no exception can or will be taken to any alarm sounded.

But when the call has been made and the sick or injured subject of the call has been taken to the hospital or to his or her home, as the case may be, it seems to us that there is reason why other sick or injured who may not have figured in the call should be considered. The noise sometimes made by ambulances can not be other than somewhat disturbing to such, and it seems to us that it might be well, when there is no occasion for speed, should ambulances be driven with no more speed and with as little noise as would mark the driving of any other sort of motor vehicle.

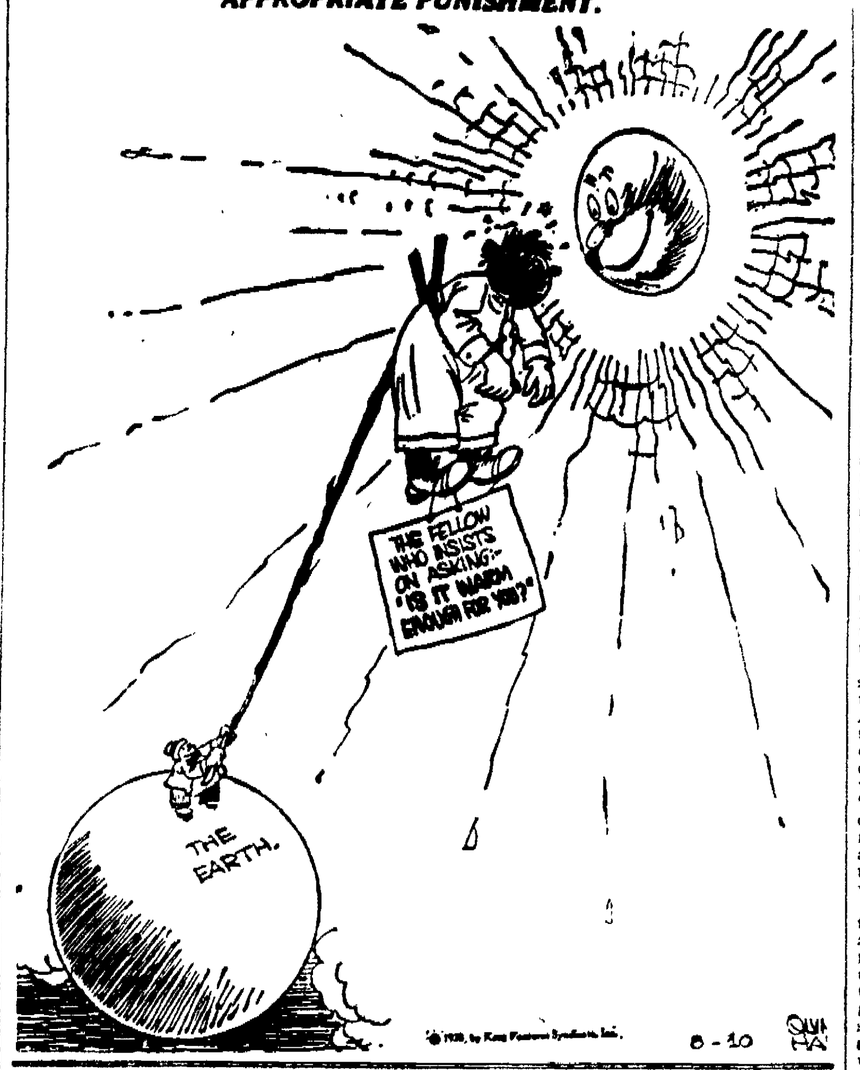
This plan is not always followed, we regret to say, but it might well be. Were it adopted generally it would work decidedly for the peace and quiet of the residential sections of cities, which are sufficiently noisy as the result of the general run of traffic.

"Storm Ravages 200-Mile Strip of East Florida," reads a headline over the story of a $5,000,000 property loss down there. We rejoice that we have had the assurance that all our friends who made investments in Florida realty "got out at the right time."

An agreement has been effected which will continue the Chicago Symphony orchestra for the term of three years, the contract stipulating that the musicians are to receive $84 a week this season, $87 for next season and $90 for the season thereafter. Even musicians, as impracticable as they are often held to be, apparently realize that a half loaf is much to be preferred to no loaf at all.

It's hard to feel that Governor Smith hasn't made a mistake in challenging Rev. Mr. Straton to debate the question whether or no he, the governor, is the "Deadliest Foe of Moral Progress in America Today," as charged by the New York minister whose courting of publicity is apparently nedless. The governor has nothing to gain by such a debate and everything to lose. It would have been far better had the Democratic nominee treated the utterance of Rev. Mr. Straton with the contempt it deserved.

APPROPRIATE PUNISHMENT.



The Care of Baby.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Two or three years ago I gave you a set of rules prepared by the late Dr. Holt, who was a great authority on babies. I want to repeat them, because every mother should be taught the fundamentals of disease prevention. Then her baby will have good health.

The majority of babies dying under two years of age are carried away by diarrheal diseases. Since these diseases are caused by bad feeding, it is important that every mother should know the general rules for the protection of her infant. Here are Dr. Holt's suggestions:

1. Encouragement of maternal nursing, and the adoption of measures to make this possible, particularly during the summer months.

2. Education of mothers in all matters relating to the care and hygiene of infants, best through the agency of the milk stations and the visits of a trained district nurse.

3. Adequate supervision of the milk supply, the general use of pasteurized or sterilized milk during the summer, and furnishing good milk to those too poor to pay for it.

4. Instruction of mothers in regard to the care of milk in the home and in all matters of artificial feeding.

5. The constant supervision of artificially-fed infants either in the milk station or by visits to the home.

To carry out these suggestions it is necessary to have a community program. In the cities the boards of health provide all the facilities for giving them effect. It is more difficult in the rural districts and small towns.

I am sure nobody can study Dr. Holt's rules without realizing that infant care must be conducted in a systematic and scientific manner. A mother should not depend on her own knowledge or even on the advice of her immediate family and friends.

The methods of fighting fire are infinitely better today than they were a generation or two ago. Bringing up babies has improved even to a greater degree. Every mother should give her child the benefit of this wider and important knowledge.

The importance of individual care for the given infant can not be overstated. It is not possible to lay down any firm and fast rules which apply to all babies. Peculiar and unusual conditions will be met. Particular care must be given to the baby that does not thrive. It needs special attention. Then it is that the mother must be advised by somebody who knows all about the welfare of infants.

Within reach of every mother is a good doctor. No matter if you are poor he will be glad to advise you. You must not let your pride prevent asking for advice—the welfare of your precious infant is at stake.

See Venice, but Why Die?

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

The "Queen City of the Adriatic" never loses its lure for travelers. From the moment one first views its towers and spires rising seemingly out of the water, he is held spell-bound.

As the train speeds across the lagoon connecting Venice with the mainland, he leaves behind the dusty pavements and honking horns of crowded city streets.

Leaving the railroad coach he walks through the station and steps into a waiting gondola in the Grand canal—the "Main Street" of Venice.

It is a fifteen or twenty-minute ride to the hotel, the gondolier taking "short cuts" through smaller "side streets," canals of the interior, so close to the stone houses that one has a glimpse through flower-laden windows.

The square of St. Mark is the first sight the visitor wishes to see. He feeds the pigeons with corn bought from a wealthy peddler and likewise contributes to the income of the ever-present photographer. The interior of the St. Mark's cathedral takes one back to the Middle ages with its lavish collection of alabaster, murals and marbles.

Editorial Comment.

DANGER IS FORESEEN

An interesting question of constitutional law and practice was raised in the senate last April, and it will undoubtedly be further debated when congress reconvenes. It was that of the right of congress, through appropriations, to restrict the president in the exercise of his constitutional right to direct the movements of the army and navy. The occasion for the raising of the question was the continued maintenance of American marines in Nicaragua. The vote taken then sustained the president in his endeavor to fulfill the terms of the Stimson agreement. But, on the larger question, it was indecisive, since many who voted against the Blaine amendment did so on grounds extraneous to the constitutional question. It is this which warrants the belief that congress will continue debate on the larger question.

Congress, has by the terms of the constitution, the sole right to declare war. It also is the appropriating authority. The president, however, has the right, as chief executive, to direct and conduct our foreign relations, and, as commander in chief of the army and navy, to direct the movements of the military forces of the United States. In the direction of our foreign relations he can bring about a state of affairs which will virtually force the hand of congress, bringing about a declaration of war. He also can enter into agreements, which need not be put in treaty form, and thus submit them to the senate, which require a certain employment of the forces of the United States. Thus, in a number of ways, he can present congress with an accomplished fact.

If the president has agreed to use American troops to supervise elections, for example, as in the Nicaraguan case, can congress interfere with the performance of the task undertaken by refusing the additional sums required to maintain the necessary force in the field? Constitutionally it can, but it would seem that it is apt to be moved by the same considerations as those which caused Senator Borah to vote against the Blaine rider to the naval appropriation bill. These revolve around the fact that the faith and honor of the country had been committed, whether constitutionally and properly or not, by the president, and consequently it was necessary for congress to sustain rather than to embarrass him.

This means, in the last analysis, that whenever one organ of government is presented with an accomplished fact by another, it must be controlled in its action by what has been done, or what it has been agreed should be done.

In the immediate case the action of congress probably was necessary and justified. But such a doctrine, if accepted for the future, might lead to serious and unforeseen consequences.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE REAL CAMPAIGN FUND SCANDAL

"Five tons of speeches," delivered or supposed to have been delivered during the last session of congress, and which would call for about $1,200 in postage if sent out by private citizens, are being mailed daily from Washington under the franking privilege enjoyed by senators and representatives. And the expectation in the national capital is that before long the outflow will increase to fifteen or twenty tons each twenty-four hours.

Practically all of this printed matter is campaign material whose production and dissemination constitute a forced political assessment against the taxpayers of America. And the distribution cost, although considerable enough to account for a material part of the postal deficit for the year, is not the most serious part of the expense imposed on the country.

That expense includes a waste of weeks and months of public time which was consumed in the delivery of what are essentially partisan political addresses and arguments, and never were intended to be anything else. It includes a consequent neglect of the nation's work, both by those who spoke and by those who listened, or were supposed to listen, but more often retired to cloak rooms to gossip or tell stories. It includes also the failure of legislation that ought to have been enacted, but failed because of a flood of needless, inconsequential and sometimes even vicious and slanderous words choked it; the passage of legislation that should have been carefully considered before enactment, but was not; and the enactment of bills that ought never to have been placed upon the statute books at all. The expense includes likewise the printing of "speeches" that nobody delivered, but which congress allowed in the Congressional Record under a "leave to extend remarks" provision, so that they might be sent out postage free to deceive guileless constituents and lead them to vote for the men who pose falsely as orators and statesmen.

All this flood of literature that is issuing from Washington represents what is substantially legalized graft at the expense of the public treasury, the public time and the public national welfare. And some of those who have vociferated furiously in the halls of congress about excessive campaign expenditure, about waste, and about corruption are unquestionably among the offenders. At the very least, they have said no word in protest against a flagrant and scandalous abuse which is an ugly offense in the nostrils of the country.—Detroit Free Press.

Soulless Education.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

The truth of the assertion made by Dr. William S. Thayer, president of the American Medical Association, that "too early specialization is one of the great faults of modern American education," must be evident to every one who has opportunity to observe the astonishing ignorance and mental apathy that prevail among "professionals" and persons educated not only in "business" schools, but in high schools, colleges and universities where preparation for life too often means only preparation for grabbing the dollar.

School days are for opening the mind on all sides and letting in the light of heaven, and not for training to gaze only through a narrow window, nor for stifling half its energies by confining all to a single line of development. What Dr. Thayer says of the medical school, viz., that "it is not the place for the teaching of specialists," is applicable to every school intended for general education. There are some extreme theorists, getting the ear of ornamental boards of education, who would like to introduce "research" into every secondary public school. Research is the proper affair of special institutions only, and if the enthusiastic advocates of its universality in education were wise they would understand that the very best and most fertile ground for starting those seeds of genius that occasionally develop into great discoveries, is that of schools where the mind receives the common sunshine from all sides. It is nature, not laboratories, that makes geniuses, and their earliest nourishment is that suited to universal humanity.

There is a growing tendency to apply the sacrosanct "technique of the short story" to the educational development of young Americans. This means leaving out everything that does not aim directly at the single denouement of the story. The denouement chosen for the young American's education—whether, the victim be male or female—is "efficiency" as a cog on the fast spinning wheel of material life. "Cut out all extraneous matter," says the short story law. And when applied to school life, it might add, in order to speak the full truth, "for thus your life will be as sapless as its story is short."

I stumbled recently upon a curious illustration of this stupid principle, which never had any justification except as a sop to the passion for technique for technique's sake. I came upon a French translation of one of Fenimore Cooper's most exquisite masterpieces of genuinely American fiction, the delightful story of "the Deerslayer," which is as truly a gem of imaginative literature as the marvelous lake on whose shores and waters the scene of the story lies was a "gem o the woods." I bought the translation, eager to see how the familiar tale would appear in a foreign language, especially in a language which seemed to me would well express the romantic atmosphere of the original.

To my great disappointment I found that the translator had been applying the principle above described. To carry the story more swiftly he left out some of the most pleasing and brilliant descriptions and episodes of Cooper's story, things that especially warm the heart and inspire the imagination of every sensitive reader, and which surely ought to be as effective in French as in English. The consequence was that I threw the volume aside in disgust, feeling that French readers who depend upon this translation for their knowledge of our great American romancer of colonial and Indian life are getting only a dry travesty.

Many such a travesty of real life itself may result from the prevailing craze for cut, straitened, hastened, specialized and utilitarianized education.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

Next to an earthquake, nothing is so upsetting as a waiter dropping a tray in a smart cafe. Among skilled attaches it brings a shuddery terror. Most headwaiters following a crash hurriedly leave the room until order is restored. When the trained waiter meets with such calamity it is his job never to hesitate. He keeps on his way as though nothing happened. And sometimes he suffers such mortification he does not return for the rest of the evening. The effect of a dropping tray is like the snapping of a taut fiddlestring, and the entire organization is thrown out of gear.

A headwaiter tells me an expert waiter can tell at a glance if a necessary article is missing from a table. He tests them by omitting a pepper shaker and using instead two salt shakers. In one instance he had a table set for fourteen people. At a plate he placed an extra spoon. In less than a minute a waiter discovered it. But the only satisfactory way to make a bus boy discover your water glass is empty is to shoot off a cannon.

WESTERN FLOWERS ARE SUPPLIED BY AIR MAIL

Denver—Colorado florists are taking advantage of the fast air mail transportation and are supplying midwest florist shops with sweet peas. Information furnished by the American Airport Association shows that California orchids have found enlarged markets since they can be delivered over the airway network.

Sentimentally inclined ovaries are regular patrons of the air ways in rushing flowers and presents to distant sweet hearts who chafe at regular mail delivery.

The Constant Flame

A ROMANCE OF GRIPPING HUMAN INTEREST

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

LYALL rocked the next morning to a new Nicky Wickert scandal.

The Star gave it little space — a mere item without names under the heading, "Disturbance at Yacht Club."

But the story spread in the small town manner, over back fences, lunch-eon tables, party telephone lines and street corners.

By noon everybody knew that Mrs. Bianca Wickert had walked into a private room at the club the evening before and had pointed a little, pearl-handled revolver at her husband. He was dining with a young and charming matron with whom he had no right to dine.

Mrs. Bianca Wickert was beautiful and hot-blooded; once she had been a dancer and in her native Madrid wives who had been dancers did not see their husbands debonairely desert-ing them for newer fancies without doing something about it.

Of course Nicky never had been a model of faithfulness. He was built on the general scheme of the butter-fly, petting here and there whenever a power, for a moment, seemed bright-est.

In his bachelorhood he had flitted to Seville where he was astonished to learn that love-making was likely to be taken seriously, especially by broth-ers and fathers. In consequence he came home married.

After that his style was shackled by the fact that when he began to flit Bianca also flitted, slightly in his rear and carrying whatever weapon came easily to hand.

Nicky's derelictions only annoyed her at first and she contented herself with throwing dishes and other such mis-siles at him and his feminine guests.

Later, when she began to grow real-ly irritated, she took to wielding a slender knife—she had a way of car-rying this in her garter whence it could be snatched without effort.

Once she used the knife in such a telling manner that a certain fashion-able country club was strewn with most of a shredded Tuxedo mixed with odds and ends of pink chiffon. Nicky's preference at this time being a debutante addicted to pink chiffon.

The night of the yacht club episode, however, Bianca lost her temper. And had not one of her husband's friends seen her undulating up the stair-case, black eyes burning in a white face, no knowing what might have happened.

As it was he followed and when the woman flashed out the lethal toy he knocked it from her hand.

She turned on him like a fury, screaming and scratching. But the steward came charging in with a pair of huskies and hurried her out the back way.

Still everybody heard her shriek, "I'll do it! But wait and we shall see!"

It was characteristic of Nicky that he turned to the charming matron with no more show of emotion than an eye-brow slightly raised and in-quired if she would have red wine or white.

But the matron stared in a curious way and disappeared. It always was so with him; something disagreeable bobbing up just when things had started to go smoothly.

This is the story Emily heard shortly after she had unlocked the shop door and put the place to rights. Various persons stopped in with it, each adding something new.

She had met Nicky once when she dined with Frances at the yacht club; he had been sitting alone and he got up and came toward them slowly, stop-ping by her chair.

She recalled clearly the long, sensi-tive hand he rested on the edge of the table, the dark face and the eyes with depths in them. The eyes had rested on her a long moment, piercing through her someway; she had felt suddenly warm, wrapped in a new, mysterious charm.

But Frances hadn't been pleased. Emily thought her almost rude in the brusque way she said, "Run along now, Nicky; we're busy."

He bowed very low with something of Coles' foreign manner and went. But he glanced back.

"Ought to be exterminated in the in-terest of public decency!" Frances burst out.

"I thought him nice, dear."

"No." The only time Frances was cross with her, that turned out to be. They didn't mention him again.

Late in the day Kitten came in. Hair flaming in the sun, green skirts flying, eyes very golden under the dark lashes, she entered like a beam of light and settled herself under the old square of tapestry which Emily had admired so long ago and which still hung on the wall.

It occurred to Emily now that her sister was more beautiful than the gentle, blending colors over her head.

"Thought you didn't like the poky old shop, Kitten-cat?"

"Well, just dropped in. Nothing special; just wanted to stop."

But Emily saw a watchful look in the yellow eyes and knew her sister wanted something. She said, absent-ly, "Hear about the Wickerts? Every-one's talking."

Red beat up the vivid face; Kitten drew a hard, excited breath. "Oh, tell me, Em, do!"

This was what she wanted then—news. Why was she so eager though? Sitting on the edge of the chair, hands tight.

"But you don't know him, Kitten? Never even seen him, have you?" Emily looked at her with a chill feeling of fear in her heart. Too easy for such a lovely youngster to know Nicky Wickert!

"'Course I've seen him, Em. Who hasn't?" And Kitten grinned.

That reassured Emily. But the fear she had known for an instant was like a seed ready to spring up and grow.

She met Coles late in the afternoon. He came for her to the shop and Marty, standing across the street, saw him come.

Marty watched him help her into his car; scowled after them as they drove away. A few miles up the state road Emily glanced backward and saw Marty following. He had a noisy little flivver that he sometimes rattled about town in, and he chugged along a couple of hundred yards behind their machine.

They stopped at an inn around the bend from the Storm King. And hardly were they seated in the veranda dining room before she heard the flivver clank-ing into the yard; almost immediately Marty wandered through the door and took care to be given a table facing them.

He didn't appear to see them, yet Emily knew he watched every move-ment under his drawn-down brows.

It made her nervous at first. Hard to listen to the pleasant things King was saying, to smile and look happy, knowing one watched silently, glowering so.

To do a thing like that! And this was the one her mother called a "fine lad!" Agnes wished her to marry him, give her life into his keeping!

She began to contrast him with the man at her side; Marty's wide shoul-ders, the fighting jaw, face somber. And King so poised, so affable. She grew angry.

Driving homeward, with the flivver knocking along behind, she told King she would marry him.

"At least I think maybe I will, King!"

"Little golden sweetheart!"

He stopped the car, nearly causing a crash with the flivver, and kissed her, very tenderly.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

TODAY was Friday when me and Jubilee woke up and looked arouud to see what we had better do next, and I told him I don't understand how a world that is so cold in the winter time can get so warm in the summer time. But there are a lot of things a boy can never understand, and if he wouldn't get up in the morning until he had got them all figured out he would be in bed a long time. I mean he would be in bed for a long time if he didn't have a father like mine. If he did he might stay in bed for a long time just once, and never again.

I got out and let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and then I hid the rope in the attic and put on my short britches and went down and got the milk pail and went out to milk the cow. Peanuts has got a cow, and so has Johnny Griswold, but the bunch never goes to their barns like it does to my barn.

Whitey, the fella that wears under-clothes and a necktie and carries a handkerchief had two bits, and he said if we would all go fishing down to the breakwater with him he would set us up to the minnies, so we each took our fishpoles and went, and we all tried to walk the closest to Whitey because he was the one that had the spondulix, and the fella that kept the closest to him and looked in his eyes the hardest and listened to what he said the most would be liable to get the most min-nies, and sometimes the last minnie catches the most fish, and we hadn't ought to have went through Squatter-town but it is the shortest way, and if the fish were biting the quicker they got there the sooner.

When we got down by the old River-bed the Squatters were playing ball, and when they saw us they came run-ning and stood all around us, and the biggest one said: "You boys are strangers around here, aren't you?" And I said: "Yep. What's it to you?" So then he turned to me, and his bunch gathered around and my bunch began to edge off, and he said: "Where do you live?" And I said: "Every place. What's it to you?" And he said: "Can you fight?" And I said: "Who wants to know?" And he said: "I do!" And then was when he found out, for I had been reaching my right as far toardst the ground as it would go, and I brang it all the ways up and hung it on his chin. And then we was gone with our dogs like a bunch of dead leaves on a hurricane. But we didn't go to the breakwater, because if they caught us out on the end of it we'd be in a pocket.

We blew the two-bits for hot dogs. And every time anyone would say any-thing someone else would say: "Who wants to know Wham!" We had a good time, and I was kinda proud. But Younies couldn't understand why I socked him when he acted a civil ques-tion. Girls aren't so very brite.

"Thunder of the Waters"

That's what the Indian word "Niagara" means. It is just two hundred and fifty years since Father Hennepin first saw the mighty cataract, and told the white man's world about it.

One of the wonders of the American con-tinent, Niagara Falls each year attracts hundreds of thousands of visitors from all over the world.

Those who live along the line of the Big Four Route are fortunate in having Niagara so near that a pilgrimage to this famous spot is a matter of but a few hours and little expense.

Your Big Four agent will gladly give you information as to trains and fares for a week-end at the Falls, or a "stop-over" visit on your way to New York, New England or Canada.

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

BY AIMEE GARRISON

New Life Opens To Lillian

I UNDERSTOOD Lillian's impatience to get to the hotel well before the hour set for our luncheon engagement with our husbands. She wished me to be unhampered in my inspection of the suite next to hers which Dicky and Harry Underwood had planned that we take for the winter. She also wanted me to have the chance for a housewife-ly allotting of the rooms before Dicky should parcel them out as he undoubt-edly would do if he arrived first on the scene.

But I felt a bit guilty as I abetted her efforts to get Mary and Marion away from the shop where the little drama of the leather jackets had been staged, and where their feet lagged be-fore every fresh display of feminine fripperies.

"I thought I never would get through riding herd on you two," she told the girls when we were finally seated in a taxi and she had directed the driver to go straight to the hotel. "I didn't want to take the subway back. Once in a half day is enough for that experience, but there would have been no alternative if you'd lin-gered much longer."

"I'm awfully sorry, Mummy," Marion said penitently, "but the new things are so marvelous. I'll bet when you and Auntie Madge were our age, you were hanging over show cases, too."

Lillian hesitated only the fraction of a second in her answer.

"Yes, I suppose we were, at that eh, Madge," she said, but there was a touch of grimness in her tone, and the smiles we exchanged held memories of the lean days of our youth when a shopping trip with the opportunities to make purchases such as those in which Marion was reveling would have seemed a vision from fairyland. But neither she nor I would have shadowed the rapturous enjoyment of the two young things opposite us by any ref-erence to that far-off time.

I told myself, however, that before Marion went back to school I meant to set before her a vivid picture of her mother's life with its triumphs over hardship and denied opportunity and with its emotional tragedy because of the girl's father. Marion, filled with generous impulses and adoring her mother, was yet I believe beginning to take Lillian and her own fortunate lot in life too much for granted. Her jealousy of her stepfather, her lack of response to his attempts to win her liking had disappointed me.

If the girl's own father had been a man of character, if she had had any memories of him whatever, I should have comprehended and sympathized with her resentment against a stranger occupying his place. But Tom Mor-ton's career and his treatment of Lil-lian had been execrable when living, and merited only oblivion for his memory, and I doubted if Marion could recall a single feature of her father, or a note of his voice.

I shrugged my shoulders uneasily wishing that the thought of Tom Mor-ton had not come to me just at this time, linked inevitably as it was to my anxiety over Lillian's terrified, almost superstitutious reaction to the letter from Samuel Brixton which she had received. I wondered if she had yet told her husband of the letter, decided that she had not when I remembered her comment that she meant to choose her time for the revelation very care-fully. I also remembered Harry Un-derwood's high spirits on the trip in, and knew that he could not have ap-peared so carefree if he had seen the letter with its offer of restitution to Lillian and Marion of money due Tom Morton, the man whose very name was anathema to him. Something dropped in my lap—a penny and Lillian's voice pointed the silent allusion.

"I'll double the ante, if you're mean enough to hold out on us," she laugh-ed.

I tossed the penny back to her.

"I won't cheat you," I told her. "The foggy masses floating around in my alleged brain aren't worthy to be called thoughts."

"I won't argue that premise," she re-torted with a grin. "There isn't time, anyway. Here we are at the hotel."

Meditations of a Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

The Mission of Men's Clubs

"What are men's clubs for?" de-mands a feminist.

Men's clubs, dear heart, are for the salvation of wives and the escape of husbands.

They are the only remaining sanc-tuary, where a man can get away from WOMEN and be alone with his kind!

• • •

They are at once a panacea to men, a deliverance to women and a boon to marriage. Without them, few couples would live together long enough to celebrte their golden wedding.

Never, in the history of the world, were men's clubs such a blessing to humanity as they are today, when a man is surrounded, north, south, east and west, by women; and even his once sacred haunts, the business office, the barber shop, the tobacco shop, the grill and the smoking car are sweetly invaded by the persuasive sex.

In his daily life, every man is prac-tically smothered by feminintity. He is shunted from the house to the office by one woman, and there taken in hand by another woman. Women order his dre, keep tabs on his pursuits, pre-scribe his diet, nag him, mother him, spoil him, boss him, rule him or emote over him.

No man is ever free from the gentle feminine touch on the telus—except when he escapes to the sanctuary of a men's club.

Then and there, only, can he BE HIMSELF, and get back to his RE-ness.

There, only, can he stretch his soul and express his masculine opinion about things; put his feet on the divan, throw his ashes on the floor, eat all the things that disagree with him, and, for a brief while, feel once more like the Lord of Creation!

Meanwhile, the clubman's wife gets an evening off with full pay, and a chance to do those things she has been longing to do, but never has time to do with a man hanging 'round to be amused, petted and waited on.

There are moments when the most devoted of wives wants to be ALONE; to get into mental deshabille; to cream her face and get her beauty sleep; to run around to a nice, gooey, feminine play with her women friends, or to feed her soul on a good book. Where to park hubby, while she consorts with her own kind, is a problem—unless he belongs to a club or a few lodges.

Nothing holds a man and a woman together like a little separation! Nothing gives them such a fresh zest for each other's society as an evening away from each other. Nothing so re-lieves a man of that "smothered" feel-ing around the house as the knowledge that he can get OUT of it!

Next to a graveyard, the safest place to park a restless husband, who has gotten on your nerves, is a man's club! They have done more than anything else to turn matrimony from a prison into a privilege!
